Nazi Prisoners Escape Camp Here; FBI Directs Hunt

A two-state man-hunt under the direction and supervision of the FBI is on for two German prisoners of war who escaped from the war prisoners' stockade, located on the Emmitsburg road, just on the outskirts of Gettysburg.

The escape of the two prisoners was not discovered until some time on Monday, the exact hour not being defined. They are believed to have escaped sometime between midnight Sunday night and 6 a. m. Monday. One report, not confirmed, said that all the prisoners were in their beds at midnight Sunday. Another report, not confirmed, said that the escape was not discovered until after noon Monday.

FBI Notified

The FBI office in Philadelphia. J. F. Sears, special agent in charge, told The Gettysburg Times this noon that the FBI was notified of the escape of the two prisoners late Monday afternoon.

Captain Laurence Thomas, in command of the war prisoners camp, refused to make any statement, answer any questions or comment on the escape this morning. He told a reporter from The Gettysburg Times that the matter rests with the FBI. He said that War Department regulations prohibit him from issuing statements or answering questions. He did say, however, when asked if special or extra precautions had been taken to safeguard a recurrence of the escape, that "Satisfactory security measures are in effect."

The two escaped prisoners, wearing blue denim shirts and pants with the letters P W printed on the back of the shirt and the seat of the pants, were identified as Thomas Kostaniak, 27, and Axel Ostermaier, 22.

Has Nazi Uniform

Kostaniak is described as being five feet six inches tall, weighing 154 pounds, blue eyes, fair complexion and light brown hair. He is smooth shaven, has prominent nose, no scars and is reported to be in good physical condition. He was formerly a sergeant in the infantry, speaks German but very little English.

Kostaniak took with him a German bag which contained a German sergeant's uniform. The uniform can be identified by two stars on its shoulder.

The FBI was unable to explain how the uniform came to be in the war prisoners' camp.

Police, Sheriff Called

Ostermaier is described as "very good looking" with blue eyes, fair complexion, blond hair. He is five feet six and one-half inches tall, weighs 161 pounds and has a youthful expression. He was a former German Army sergeant, has an elementary education.

Both men are Catholics and may attempt to attend church services, especially on Sunday.

Although the exact hour of discovery of the escape can not be learned, local police were not informed until late Monday afternoon. State police were notified about 2:15 o'clock Monday afternoon. Sheriff John E. Millhimes was notified about 5 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Get Many "Tips"

The Gettysburg Times was not informed although it had been advised, about 10 days ago, that in event of an escape The Times would be advised along with civil and state police in order to give the widest publicity to the escape.

The FBI told The Gettysburg Times that it had received "many reports" of the prisoners having been seen at various places in the state. Each report is being run down but as yet no positive or definite clue has been revealed for publication.

The prisoners are without money or food. They will have to beg or steal food to survive, although it is possible that they may survive for some time by subsisting "off the land."

Citizens are warned against false reports or "concocted ideas" as to the whereabouts of the escaped prisoners. However, legitimate, true information should be relayed to the state or local police or to the sheriff's office at once.

"Not A Crime"

When state police were notified of the escape they broadcast a complete description of the two men over the state police teletype system.

When apprehended the two prisoners will be turned over to the military authorities. No provision is made for trial of the two men. Escaping from a war prisoner camp is not considered a crime and unless the two escaped prisoners commit a crime while at large they will not be tried for the escape from the local camp. ## THANK YOU

O. H. Benson, former National Boy Scout official and former chairman of the Adams County Salvage Committee, today commended The Gettysburg Times upon its Independence Day Tribune Edition. Mr. Benson wrote as follows:

"Your Independence Day Tribune Edition is a masterpiece and represents vision, brains and hard work. My sincere congratulations to you and your able staff who helped you to produce this edition.

"Your second section editorial is a gem of good English prose and thought. Hope every soldier and their friends and kin at home will have a chance to read this message.

"My thanks for all our boys in the service."

LEGION URGES VETS EMPLOYED IN CEMETERIES

Restoration of the national cemeteries of the nation to the War Department was urged in a resolution passed Monday evening by the Albert J. Lentz post of the American Legion at its regular meeting in the post rooms on Baltimore street.

The resolution, similar to one passed by the United Spanish War Veterans at their convention here, will be presented to the district meeting of the Legion here August 7 for action.

The resolution follows:

"Whereas the national cemeteries created as a memorial for the burial of soldiers and sailors of our various wars have been taken from the jurisdiction of the War Department and placed under the care of the Department of the Interior and whereas many employees of these cemeteries are not veterans as was originally intended, therefore be it resolved that the Congress of the United States be requested to restore these national cemeteries to the care and jurisdiction of the War Department and that the superintendents and all employees be honorably discharged veterans and be it further resolved that a copy of the resolution be forwarded to the Pennsylvania State Convention of the American Legion to be held in Harrisburg August 17 for action."

May Change Policy

The resolution, if passed by the state Legion and by Congress will mark a change in policy regarding the cemetery here. In the past, under both the War Department and Department of Interior, veterans have been given preference in all positions but under the War Department on at least one occasion a temporary superintendent at the cemetery was not a veteran and on (Please Turn to Page 4)

GUIDES RELATE FIRST TOURS OF NATIONAL PARK

A visit by Winston Churchill, then the British Chancellor of the Exchequer, to the Battlefield in 1932; the early days of the Battlefield when trips could be made only through the private lanes of individuals owning farms on the field and reunions of veterans here were among the reminiscences of the battlefield outlined to the Rotarians Monday evening at the Y. Y. C. A. by J. Warren Gillett, dean of Gettysburg Battlefield guides and William H. Allison, superintendent of the Gettysburg National Cemetery and for years a battlefield guide.

Mr. Gillett told of the first veterans' reunion in 1867 when members of a Union regiment from Philadelphia who fought Pickett's troops invited members of Pickett's army to a reunion at Gettysburg. The Union veterans arrived here a few days before July 1. The Confederate veterans arrived in two special trains. A salute from three guns in the square was fired and the Northerners and Southerners met to clasp hands. July 2 they toured the field and the first Confederate and first Union soldier shook hands over the stone wall at Bloody Angle.

TOWN WORKERS DENIED SECOND WAGE INCREASE

Gettysburg borough employees who had their wages boosted from 45 to 55 cents an hour early this year were turned down Monday evening by borough council in a new request for another 10-cents-an-hour raise but the highway department foreman and truck-driver, Harry Turner, was given a $10 per month raise to "offset an inequality in the pay for the various highway department workers."

Turner, who had been getting $20 per month, will receive $30 from July 1 by council's action after it was pointed out that under the previous pay schedule the hourly workers were getting as much or more than their foreman who worked more hours and has greater responsibilities. Wages of the laborers in the department average about $30 per week, Borough Treasurer John H. Baschore said.

The request for the 65-cent wage rate was turned down by council unanimously for the reasons that the borough budget will not stand another pay raise for that department and because 55 cents is the generally recognized rate of pay for laborers in this community, councilmen agreed.

August Tax Report

The tangled affairs of the delinquent borough taxpayers and the records of ex-collector Harry H. Thomas were not discussed at the meeting but after the session Councilman Ray M. Hoffman, finance committee chairman, answered a Gettysburg Times reporter's question by saying that his committee will have a detailed report on the matter ready for presentation at the August meeting.

On recommendation of the highway committee, council ordered corrections made in the north curb line in the first block of Chambersburg street to improve drainage conditions. Borough Engineer LeRoy H. Winebrenner reported that a state highway department engineer had examined the problem and had agreed with Winebrenner's proposal to raise the curb and place an additional inlet in front of Lippy's store.

The curb will be raised four to four and a half inches with the entire undertaking estimated to cost about $500. Council directed that the work be started provided waivers of damage claims are first secured from property owners involved.

Probe Fiber Problem

The sewer committee reported conferences with Gettysburg Throwing company officials on Fiber problems at the company's plant and Councilman Vernon Corle, chairman, said that the company is "willing to cooperate in every way in the solution of the problem."

He said the company offered to consult with state engineers or private engineers and offered to pay up to 50 per cent of the cost involved. The committee already has decided to bring in state men to begin the study.

Mr. Winebrenner reported that the annual borough cleanup is nearly completed and that street patching will be started when the hauling of ashes and rubbish is finished. He also reported on other routine work including sewage disposal plant cleanings.

The annual report of the Burgess, Fred G. Pfeiffer, showed total collections for last month of $40 in circus fees, $3 in fines and $37.43 in theater taxes.

Treasurer's Report

The monthly report of Borough Treasurer John H. Baschore showed June expenditures amounted to $3,732 as against receipts of $19,555 with the first 1944 taxes included in the amount of more than $3,500. The balance in the general fund as of July 1 was $14,866, the report showed.

A recapitulation of borough expenses for the first six months of the year showed a total of $19,660. The year's budget for expenses is $40,600.

President H. M. Ogler

President H. M. Ogler presided with Councilmen L. D. Shearer, Fred A. Hummelbaugh, Ray M. Hoffman, Joseph D. Kendrick, Harry E. Koch, Harry J. Troxell and Vernon Corle; Mr. Winebrenner, Treasurer Baschore, Burgess Pfeiffer and Mrs. Wilmer Drach, borough secretary, in attendance.

R. C. VISITORS

Home Service corps facilities and other projects of the Adams county chapter of the Red Cross were being visited this afternoon by a delegation of Red Cross workers from the Hanover chapter headed by Miss Mabel Stone, executive secretary of that chapter.

Burgess Orders Enforcement Of Parking Rules

With the completion of the repainting of parking zone lines on the town's main streets, Burgess, Fred G. Pfeiffer said today he must "insist" upon the enforcement of the borough ordinance requiring motorists to park their cars within the spaces indicated.

"Careless parking of autos across the white lines reduces the number of cars that can be accommodated with undesirable results for both the motorists and the town's business places," the Burgess pointed out.

"Excesses will not be accepted from erring motorists and the old story that one car parked across a line forces the next parker to violate the ordinance will not avoid a fine," the Burgess declared. "Two wrongs don't make a right and two cars parked improperly will mean two tickets. If an improperly parked car makes it impossible for a driver to use the next stall properly, it would be better to avoid that stall than park there illegally and face prosecution," the Burgess said.

SCHOOL BOARD NAMES TEACHER AT HIGH SCHOOL

Samuel T. Hogue, Dillsburg, who graduated this year from the Indiana State Teachers' college, was elected as a temporary teacher in the commercial department of the high school to fill the position of Robert C. Diehl, now serving in the U. S. Army. The former Miss Josephine Hogue, now resigned, filled the position last year.

That election completes the faculty for the high and grade schools for the coming year. Superintendent L. C. Kestelover said, unless other vacancies occur before the school year opens in September.

Richard A. Brown, Esq., was retained for another year as solicitor for the school district.

Close Year's Business

The board, meeting on the first Monday in July in accordance with the requirements of the state school code, formally closed accounts on the 1943-1944 school year. Financial reports submitted showed a current balance in the general fund of $24,981 and $566 in the sinking fund.

The board granted

exonerations on $334.87 in school taxes for the year just ended. The sum represented errors and the taxes that had been assessed on the Gettysburg college property on Springs avenue which was held recently by the court to be tax exempt.

Only $1,550.42 remains uncollected from last year's school tax duplicate, reports to the board showed. That sum includes penalties up to June 30. The penalties began to accumulate at the rate of one-half per cent per month since January 30. Unless the delinquent taxpayers heed a letter sent to be sent to them about their unpaid taxes, liens will be entered against their properties with consequent additional costs, the school board said.

Robert C. Williams In Invasion Action

Seaman first class Robert C. Williams, in a letter from the Cherbourg area to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest R. Williams, Emmitsburg road, describes the invasion as something he is glad he didn't miss out hopes never to live to see another like it.

He reports having seen many of the boys with whom he received his training in England killed and wounded. From his location he could see German prisoners, seemingly happy over their capture, being marched to the rear of the lines.

In his letter Williams stated: "After seeing what I have seen here, money hasn't the slightest value. If all the capitalists, gasoline ration grumblers, people who don't want to part with their money for bonds and those who grumble about the little inconveniences they are suffering because of the war, would see what these boys over here are doing to guard those things they prize so much at home, they would bow their heads in shame. If I get home in one piece, that's all I want. Money doesn't do one any good in one of the many holes they have near here with crosses on them."

Seaman Williams told of his superior officer giving him a personal commendation for sticking to his post above the call of duty.

COMMISSIONERS "FREEZE" STATE GAS TAX FUNDS

Liquid fuel funds, returned to Adams county by the state on the basis of state gasoline tax collected here, have been "frozen" by the Adams county commissioners and will not be available for distribution this year as county aid on street and road building work in the various boroughs and townships.

That action, taken some time ago by the commissioners, was disclosed at the July meeting of the Gettysburg borough council by LeRoy H. Winebrenner, Gettysburg borough engineer, who reported he received that answer when he took Gettysburg's application for $1,000 or more for street repair work before the commissioners.

Clarence C. Smith, clerk to the commissioners, today confirmed Winebrenner's statement explaining that the greatly reduced payments by the state are required for county bridge repair work and also will be used to build up a fund to be available for damage claims when the state launches its expected highway construction program after the war.

Smaller Sums Received

Unless the county has funds available with which to meet damage claims for the large highway construction program expected here after the war, the state's plans for road building in this county might be altered, the commissioners' office declared.

It was also pointed out by Mr. Smith that county aid payments to boroughs and townships in the county last year were "twice as big as normal" and depleted our reserves in the liquid fuel fund.

Recently the county received about $15,000 from the state in a semi-annual payment but the next check probably will not come until January, 1945, he said. In pre-war days the county annually received close to $50,000 in gasoline tax refunds, records at the court house show.

Street Repairs Curtailed

Some members of the town council were inclined to the opinion that it was unfair to Gettysburg to be refused a share of the county gasoline tax money when "30 to 40 per cent of the gasoline tax collected in Adams county comes from Gettysburg."

Other borough officials voiced the opinion that Gettysburg borough should not stand in the way of a state road building program through Adams county by demanding a comparatively small sum for street work here. If the depletion of the county reserves for postwar damage claims on important highway building projects here would prevent the carrying out of that program, the county aid for Gettysburg would be secured at too high a cost, Burgess, Fred G. Pfeiffer maintained.

That the street repair and surfacing program in Gettysburg this year will have to be curtailed because of the absence of county aid apparently was taken for granted by council members Monday evening although no specific streets have yet been stricken from the list set up earlier in the year for attention this season.

ALL SEATS SOLD FOR SOLDIERS' REVUE TONIGHT

All seats have been sold for the presentation of "Gullible's Travels," the all-soldier revue to be staged tonight in the Majestic theatre by a cast of members of the Army Service Forces from New Cumberland. Edmund W. Thomas, chairman of the Adams County War Finance Committee, will announce from the stage the total value of the bonds represented by the certification forms exchanged for reserved seat tickets. Doors will be opened at 8 o'clock and the show will begin at 8:30 o'clock.

Staff Sgt. Edgar K. Smith, whose former service from the Army Service Forces at New Cumberland were received with acclaim, will direct "Gullible's Travels."

Guests Of Moose

Members of the cast and those connected with the revue arrived in Gettysburg early this afternoon. Following the show this evening, the cast will be guests of the Gettysburg Lodge of the Loyal Order of Moose, and will be entertained at the Moose home. Arrangements for the entertainment of the cast were (Please Turn to Page 4)

Nazis Fighting Stubbornly To Check Advances

With U. S. Forces, July 5 (AP)—American troops entered La Haye du Puits late today, capturing its railway station.

By WES GALLAGHER

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, July 5 (AP)—The American First Army has battled the Germans out of 17 villages and hamlets in its explosive assault down the Cherbourg peninsula during the past 24 hours, driving the Germans back to within one mile of La Haye du Puits, western anchor of Nazi defenses in Normandy.

On the eastern extreme of the bridgehead front Canadians fought hand-to-hand today with stubbornly resisting Germans for Carpiquet airfield three miles from Caen, while the British to the south beat off new German tank attacks with heavy enemy losses.

Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's tireless American doughboys, attacking in a jagged 20-mile arc from Carentan to the west coast of the Cherbourg peninsula, advanced from one half mile to 2½ miles in swampy, canal-creased country.

German Resistance Is Heavy

American columns converging on La Haye du Puits, an important six-road junction, were within two miles of the town on the west, three miles on the north, a mile on the northeast and three miles on the east. Capture of the town appeared imminent.

The Germans resisted heavily in all sectors, and a particularly violent engagement was going on one-half mile south of newly captured St. Jores, east of La Haye.

The long-quiet Carentan sector erupted into bloody fighting when the Americans launched an attack down the Carentan-Periers road. The doughboys advanced half a mile in an attack starting at noon yesterday.

Each foot of the advance had to be covered with artillery. Swamps and canals channelized the fighting to the narrow area along the road.

Nazi Losses Are High

East of Gavrus at the butt of the Odon river bridgehead the Germans launched a night counter-attack, but it was smashed by Gen. Montgomery's big gun batteries. Another similar attack to the south three hours later also was smashed.

"The Germans have lost a large number of men killed and considerable numbers of tanks," the Allied supreme command said.

The British advance which captured Verson, two miles below Carpiquet and four miles southwest of Caen, encountered only light opposition. But to the north, where the Canadians captured Carpiquet, three miles east of Caen, the Germans resisted violently and beat back all attempts to capture the airfield.

Allies Nearing Florence, Italy

By NOLAND NORGAARD

Rome, July 5 (AP)—Eighth Army troops, converging from the southwest and south, have driven within five miles of the important communications center of Arezzo on the road to Florence while American units on Italy's west coast have moved up to the outskirts of Rosignano, less than 13 miles airline from Livorno. Allied headquarters announced today.

Both advances were recorded against stiff German resistance and the Nazis gave every indication they intended to battle to retain the valuable port of Livorno as long as possible.

Heavy guns situated on dominant hills opened fire on approaching American infantry and tanks around Rosignano. At the same time heavy road movements westward were seen behind the enemy lines, indicating that reserves were being moved into position.

Strongly supported by artillery, the Americans finally broke into the town in strength and reinforced their position yesterday, while north of the town tanks established road blocks against expected German counter-attacks.

American artillery knocked out two Tiger tanks during this fighting while American tanks destroyed two Nazi field guns and 15 vehicles.

Russians Are Advancing Rapidly

By EDDIE GILMORE

Moscow, July 5 (AP)—Two powerful Russian armies pounded on today toward Latvia and Lithuania, at a pace that may reach one or both of the Baltic republics in three or four days, and menaced the old Polish city of Wilno.

(Some 200 miles to the south, the German high command said, Nazi forces evacuated Kowel in old Poland. Moscow made no reference to Kowel or this central front.)

Berlin also declared the Russians had landed on five islands in Narva bay, between Estonia and Finland. The Russians crossed the Estonian frontier in an offensive last winter, pounding close to Narva on the bay.)

Richard A. Brown, Esq., was retained for another year as solicitor for the school district.

Close Year's Business

The board, meeting on the first Monday in July in accordance with the requirements of the state school code, formally closed accounts on the 1943-1944 school year. Financial reports submitted showed a current balance in the general fund of $24,981 and $566 in the sinking fund. The board granted exonerations on $334.87 in school taxes for the year just ended. The sum represented errors and the taxes that had been assessed on the Gettysburg college property on Springs avenue which was held recently by the court to be tax exempt.

Only $1,150.42 remains uncollected from last year's school tax duplicate, reports to the board showed. That sum includes penalties up to June 30. The penalties began to accumulate at the rate of one-half per cent per month since January 30. Unless the delinquent taxpayers heed a letter soon to be sent to them about their unpaid taxes, liens will be entered against their properties with consequent additional costs, the school board said.

Robert C. Williams In Invasion Action

Seaman first class Robert C. Williams, in a letter from the Cherbourg area to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest R. Williams, Emmitsburg road, describes the invasion as something he is glad he didn't miss but hopes never to live to see another like it.

He reports having seen many of the boys with whom he received his training in England killed and wounded. From his location he could see German prisoners, seemingly happy over their capture, being marched to the rear of the lines.

In his letter Williams stated: "After seeing what I have seen here, money hasn't the slightest value. If all the capitalists, gasoline ration grumblers, people who don't want to part with their money for bonds and those who grumble about the little inconveniences they are suffering because of the war, would see what these boys over here are doing to guard those things they prize so much at home, they would bow their heads in shame. If I get home in one piece, that's all I want. Money doesn't do one any good in one of the many holes they have near here with crosses on them."

Seaman Williams told of his superior officer giving him a personal commendation for sticking to his post above the call of duty.

COMMISSIONERS "FREEZE" STATE GAS TAX FUNDS

Liquid fuel funds, returned to Adams county by the state on the basis of state gasoline tax collected here, have been "frozen" by the Adams county commissioners and will not be available for distribution this year as county aid on street and road building work in the various boroughs and townships.

That action, taken some time ago by the commissioners, was disclosed at the July meeting of the Gettysburg borough council by LeRoy H. Winebrenner, Gettysburg borough engineer, who reported he received that answer when he took Gettysburg's application for $1,000 or more for street repair work before the commissioners.

Clarence C. Smith, clerk to the commissioners, today confirmed Winebrenner's statement explaining that the greatly reduced payments by the state are required for county bridge repair work and also will be used to build up a fund to be available for damage claims when the state launches its expected highway construction program after the war.

Smaller Sums Received

Unless the county has funds available with which to meet damage claims for the large highway construction program expected here after the war, the state's plans for road building in this county might be altered, the commissioners' office declared.

It was also pointed out by Mr. Smith that county aid payments to boroughs and townships in the county last year were "twice as big as normal" and depleted our reserves in the liquid fuel fund.

Recently the county received about $15,000 from the state in a semi-annual payment but the next check probably will not come until January, 1945, he said. In pre-war days the county annually received close to $50,000 in gasoline tax refunds, records at the court house show.

Street Repairs Curtailed

Some members of the town council were inclined to the opinion that it was unfair to Gettysburg to be refused a share of the county gasoline tax money when "30 to 40 per cent of the gasoline tax collected in Adams county comes from Gettysburg."

Other borough officials voiced the opinion that Gettysburg borough should not stand in the way of a state road building program through Adams county by demanding a comparatively small sum for street work here. If the depletion of the county reserves for postwar damage claims on important highway building projects here would prevent the carrying out of that program, the county aid for Gettysburg would be secured at too high a cost, Burgess Fred G. Pfeffer maintained.

That the street repair and surfacing program in Gettysburg this year will have to be curtailed because of the absence of county aid apparently was taken for granted by council members Monday evening although no specific streets have yet been stricken from the list set up earlier in the year for attention this season.

ALL SEATS SOLD FOR SOLDIERS' REVUE TONIGHT

All seats have been sold for the presentation of "Gullible's Travels," the all-soldier revue to be staged tonight in the Majestic theatre by a cast of members of the Army Service Forces from New Cumberland. Edmund W. Thomas, chairman of the Adams County War Finance Committee, will announce from the stage the total value of the bonds represented by the certification forms exchanged for reserved seat tickets. Doors will be opened at 8:30 o'clock and the show will begin at 8:30 o'clock.

Staff Sgt. Edgar K. Smith, whose former revues from the Army Service Forces at New Cumberland were received with acclaim, will direct "Gullible's Travels."

Guests Of Moose

Members of the cast and those connected with the revue arrived in Gettysburg early this afternoon. Following the show this evening, the cast will be guests of the Gettysburg Lodge of the Loyal Order of Moose, and will be entertained at the Moose home. # Nazis Fighting Stubbornly To Check Advances

With U. S. Forces, July 5 (AP)—American troops entered La Haye du Puits late today, capturing its railway station.

By WES GALLAGHER

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, July 5 (AP)—The American First Army has battled the Germans out of 17 villages and hamlets in its explosive assault down the Cherbourg peninsula during the past 24 hours, driving the Germans back to within one mile of La Haye du Puits, western anchor of Nazi defenses in Normandy.

On the eastern extreme of the bridgehead front Canadians fought hand-to-hand today with stubbornly resisting Germans for Carpiquet airfield three miles from Caen, while the British to the south beat off new German tank attacks with heavy enemy losses.

Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's tireless American doughboys, attacking in a jagged 20-mile arc from Carentan to the west coast of the Cherbourg peninsula, advanced from one half mile to 2 1/2 miles in swampy, canal-creased country.

German Resistance Is Heavy

American columns converging on La Haye du Puits, an important six-road junction, were within two miles of the town on the west, three miles on the north, a mile on the northeast and three miles on the east. Capture of the town appeared imminent.

The Germans resisted heavily in all sectors, and a particularly violent engagement was going on one half mile south of newly captured St. Jores, east of La Haye.

The long-quiet Carentan sector erupted into bloody fighting when the Americans launched an attack down the Carentan-Periers road. The doughboys advanced half a mile in an attack starting at noon yesterday.

Each foot of the advance had to be covered with artillery. Swamps and canals channelized the fighting to the narrow area along the road.

Nazi Losses Are High

East of Gavrus at the butt of the Odon river bridgehead the Germans launched a night counter-attack, but it was smashed by Gen. Montgomery's big gun batteries. Another similar attack to the south three hours later also was smashed.

"The Germans have lost a large number of men killed and considerable numbers of tanks," the Allied supreme command said.

The British advance which captured Verson, two miles below Carpiquet and four miles southwest of Caen, encountered only light opposition. But to the north, where the Canadians captured Carpiquet, three miles east of Caen, the Germans resisted violently and beat back all attempts to capture the airfield.

Allies Nearing Florence, Italy

By NOLAND NORGAARD

Rome, July 5 (AP)—Eighth Army troops, converging from the southwest and south, have driven within five miles of the important communications center of Arezzo on the road to Florence while American units on Italy's west coast have moved up to the outskirts of Rosignano, less than 13 miles airline from Livorno. Allied headquarters announced today.

Both advances were recorded against stiff German resistance and the Nazis gave every indication they intended to battle to retain the valuable port of Livorno as long as possible.

Heavy guns situated on dominant hills opened fire on approaching American infantry and tanks around Rosignano. At the same time heavy road movements westward were seen behind the enemy lines, indicating that reserves were being moved into position.

Strongly supported by artillery, the Americans finally broke into the town in strength and reinforced their position yesterday, while north of the town tanks established road blocks against expected German counter-attacks.

American artillery knocked out two Tiger tanks during this fighting while American tanks destroyed two Nazi field guns and 15 vehicles.

Russians Are Advancing Rapidly

By EDDIE GILMORE

Moscow, July 5 (AP)—Two powerful Russian armies pounded on today toward Latvia and Luthuania, at a pace that may reach one or both of the Baltic republics in three or four days, and menaced the old Polish city of Wilno.

(Some 200 miles to the south, the German high command said, Nazi forces evacuated Kowel in old Poland. Moscow made no reference to Kowel or this central front.)

(Berlin also declared the Russians had landed on five islands in Narva bay, between Estonia and Finland. The Russians crossed the Estonian frontier in an offensive last winter, pounding close to Narva on the bay.)

HITLER FOLLY MAY RESULT IN WAR DISASTER

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press War Analyst)

The Red avalanche, having torn the Germans loose from the strategic strongholds of Minsk and Polotsk, has continued to roll the Nazi line back in what bids fair to be the greatest disaster that yet has overtaken the men who three years ago marched his conquering legions over this old invasion route in his arrogant quest of world domination.

Berlin itself has admitted that the Russian advances have been so rapid that big German units have been left in the rear of the Muscovites. The Nazi losses have been colossal—something like a quarter of a million men killed or captured in the past thirteen days. This sacrifice has been imposed by Hitler himself who has ordered his men to fight to the death and, according to captured Nazi General Baumeister, has been enforcing this bloody command by exacting reprisals for disobedience.

Acute Nazi Distress

We have here a picture of German distress which strengthens the belief of observers that the battle of Minsk will prove to be one of the decisive engagements of the entire war. The conservative London Times yesterday in describing the position declared that "part of the eastern front today presents a spectacle that has not been seen in Europe since 1918—that of a broken German Army."

This analyst doesn't make it his business to prophesy, but only to indicate trends—possibilities and probabilities. There's the possibility of a German debacle in White Russia. However, the facts don't warrant us in assuming a collapse at the moment. A bit more time will tell whether Prussian military skill will again enable a withdrawal to other defenses.

In any event, the disaster already visited on the Hitlerites, and the great military advantage gained by the victory in the Minsk sector, rank this as one of the decisive contributions to Hitler's rapidly approaching downfall. Possession of the ancient citadel of Minsk is permitting the Red armies to roll westward towards East Prussia, Warsaw—and Berlin! "Polotsk is the open sesame to Latvia, and Lithuania, and the onrushing Muscovites were said to be less than a score of miles from the frontiers of these Baltic states today."

May Spell Defeat

As remarked in this column recently, the progress of the European war as a whole in the immediate future seems to me to depend largely on this battle of Minsk and on the developing battle of Normandy. The triumph of Minsk, coupled with early Allied success in smashing through the German defenses in Normandy into the French hinterland, most certainly would (or let's say, "will") speed the termination of the war vastly.

These two major victories will set the eastern and western nullstones to grinding at full speed on their Hitlerian grist.

The western Allies are getting ahead with their part of the contract in their Herculean amphibious operation which has no parallel in history. They retain the initiative and are steadily attacking to crash the German gate to the open fields of France.

The Americans on the Allied right wing during the past twenty-four hours have driven the Nazis back to within a mile of La Haye du Puits, German anchor in western Normandy. On the other flank, the Canadians were fighting hand to hand with the Hitlerites three miles from the railway center of Caen, which is the padlock on the Nazi barrier across the peninsula.

Weddings

Landis-Shaffer
Miss Ruth Shaffer of York Springs R. 2, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Shaffer of Starners Station, and Daniel Landis, of Carlisle, were married Sunday, June 25, at the home of the bride and sister-in-law of the bride, Cpl. and Mrs. James Shaffer.

The single ring ceremony was performed by the bride's pastor, the Rev. Earl J. Ensminger, before a bank of woods ferns and flowers.

The bride wore a white marquisette gown with floor length veil and a corsage of roses, snapdragons and sweet peas.

Following the ceremony the couple was tendered a reception and luncheon by Cpl. and Mrs. James Shaffer. The couple left for a wedding trip to Indiana and a week's visit with the sister and brother-in-law of the bride, the Rev. and Mrs. Myrl T. Slaybaugh of New Goshen, Indiana. They will reside with Mrs. James Shaffer of York Springs R. 2, after returning from their trip.

Deaths

Enoch R. Leese
Enoch R. Leese, 70, retired farmer, formerly of Hanover R. 1, died Tuesday morning at 6 o'clock at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George M. Kuntz, Hanover. Mr. Leese had been in ill health for about one year but had been about as usual and his death was sudden and unexpected. He was born July 16, 1873, the son of George and Louise Unger-Leese.

Surviving are his widow, the former Emma L. Zumburn, to whom he was married 28 years ago; also his daughter, Mrs. Kuntz, with whom he made his home; two grandchildren; the following brothers: John Leese, near New Chester; Charles Leese, Hampton; G. Calvin Leese, Gettysburg R. D., and Francis H. Leese, Hanover R. 1, and one step-brother, Roger S. Leese, Westminster R. D., and three step-sisters, Mrs. John Fuhrman and Mrs. Lottie Diehl, both of Hanover, and Mrs. Carrie Bentzel, Hanover R. 1 and a number of nieces and nephews. Mr. Leese had spent his entire life in farming until his retirement some time ago. He was a member of Christ Reformed church, near Littlestown.

John E. Cratin
John Edmond Cratin, 66, retired plasterer and former resident of Littlestown, died Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock at the home of his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Cratin, McSherrystown, with whom he had been making his home for the past six weeks.

Mr. Cratin, a native of near Emmitsburg, had resided most of his life in Littlestown and had been in declining health for the past six years, with his demise attributed to complications.

He was a son of the late Joseph and Catherine Hawn Cratin, and was married 56 years ago to the former Louise Walters, who survives with the following children: Mrs. John Lephardt, South Etna; Mrs. Boris Earbaugh, Gettysburg; Joseph Cratin, Littlestown; Francis Cratin, with whom he was residing and Richard Cratin, present burgess of McSherrystown, seven grandchildren; and one great-grandchild. He was a member of St. Aloysius Catholic church, Littlestown, for many years.

Funeral services Friday morning, meeting at 8:30 a. m. at the home of his son, Francis, 527 Main street, McSherrystown, followed by a high mass of requiem in St. Aloysius Catholic church, Littlestown. The Rev. John H. Weber, rector, will be the celebrant. Interment in St. Aloysius cemetery.

Mrs. Warren S. Trostle
Mrs. Data C. Trostle, 71, wife of Warren S. Trostle, died Monday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock at her home, East Berlin, after an illness of a month.

Mrs. Trostle was a member of Trinity Lutheran church, East Berlin. Surviving, besides her husband, are three brothers, The Rev. C. H. Shull, Frederick; Warren S. and Clarence T. Shull, both of New Oxford R. D.

Funeral services Thursday afternoon at her home at 2 o'clock. Interment in East Berlin cemetery. The Rev. Snyder will officiate.

Youth Injured As Car Upsets

A youthful driver, Harvey Hunter, Jr., son of Harvey Hunter, East Berlin, was taken to the Hanover General hospital about 5:40 p. m. Tuesday afternoon. He was reported to have a possible skull fracture, possible fracture of the right shoulder and a fractured left leg. Details of how the injuries were received were not obtainable.

Dr. Allen W. Kelly, East Berlin, said the boy was brought to his office after having been found underneath his overturned car on a side road near East Berlin, and that he had taken him to the institution.

"The Star Spangled Banner" was designated as the United States' national anthem by an act of Congress, approved by President Hoover in 1931.

set up at the Geneva conference several years ago.

The man hunt will continue until the prisoners are apprehended. Special agents of the FBI out of Philadelphia, Harrisburg, York, Baltimore and other offices are on the hunt. State police throughout Pennsylvania and Maryland are also searching for the men. Local police in many communities also have been pressed into the search.

Search Near York Springs

Early Monday evening the state police teletype system began carrying "tips" on persons resembling the prisoners being seen in widely separated sections of the state. Some of the "hottest" tips came from several sections of Adams county.

Early Monday evening the pair were reported sighted three miles east of here on the Lincoln highway. Police went to the scene but found the pair in question had "hitch-hiked" rides toward York.

About midnight Monday Sheriff John E. Millhimes saw two men pass Fair's service station about two miles from York Springs on the Hanover road while he inquired of persons there if any persons answering the descriptions of the two Germans had been seen.

Tip From Carlisle

Millhimes turned his car and started in the direction the two had taken but found they had disappeared, presumably into woodland along the roadside. He notified state police and together they searched the section along with a small detachment of soldiers until dawn when about 30 guards were sent to the area for a three-hour fruitless search.

Tuesday afternoon a report said the pair were seen in Carlisle and a short time later along the Conodoguinet creek which flows toward the Susquehanna. Guards were rushed to the area and state police were summoned from nearby substations but the search was in vain.

It's clean, wholesome entertainment for the whole family at reasonable prices. The greatest of all hill Billy shows, headed by the greatest of all hill Billy singers, ROY ACUFF.

Also along with this big attraction is the group that the people of York have learned to love and to call their own—SHORTY FINCHER and HIS PRAIRIE PAIS; RAWHIDE, the man that never fails to make you forget your troubles; SALLIE, sweet singer of sweet songs, and a great personality; CAL FORTUNE, with rodeling and singing you have learned to enjoy; BOB HESTER, the boy that does a swell job on singing and can play almost any instrument handed to him. ... very versatile. SHORTY FINCHER, that makes all these big shows possible. ... a swell guy.

Two Insect Pests Threaten Crops

Two insect pests have arrived in Adams county and each carries the threat of serious damage to growing crops—the chinch bug which is attacking cornfields and the Japanese beetle.

The office of County Farm Agent M. T. Hartman has received word from a number of farms, all of them within five miles of Gettysburg of serious damage by chinch bugs which apparently have moved into corn fields from harvested barley and wheat fields. The bugs caused serious damage here about 10 years ago.

Jan beetles have been appearing for the last 10 days and bait balls set in this area are reporting good catches.

HITLER FOLLY MAY RESULT IN WAR DISASTER

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press War Analyst)

The Red avalanche, having torn the Germans loose from the strategic strongholds of Minsk and Polotsk, has continued to roll the Nazi line back in what bids fair to be the greatest disaster that yet has overtaken the men who three years ago marched his conquering legions over this old invasion route in his arrogant quest of world domination.

Berlin itself has admitted that the Russian advances have been so rapid that big German units have been left in the rear of the Muscovites. The Nazi losses have been colossal—something like a quarter of a million men killed or captured in the past thirteen days. This sacrifice has been imposed by Hitler himself who has ordered his men to fight to the death and, according to captured Nazi General Baumeier, has been enforcing this bloody command by exacting reprisals for disobedience.

Acute Nazi Distress

We have here a picture of German distress which strengthens the belief of observers that the battle of Minsk will prove to be one of the decisive engagements of the entire war. The conservative London Times yesterday in describing the position declared that "part of the eastern front today presents a spectacle that has not been seen in Europe since 1918—that of a broken German Army."

This analyst doesn't make it his business to prophesy, but only to indicate trends—possibilities and probabilities. There is the possibility of a German debacle in White Russia. However, the facts don't warrant us in assuming a collapse at the moment. A bit more time will tell whether Prussian military skill will again enable a withdrawal to other defenses.

In any event, the disaster already visited on the Hitlerites, and the great military advantage gained by the victory in the Minsk sector, rank this as one of the decisive contributions to Hitler's rapidly approaching downfall. Possession of the ancient citadel of Minsk is permitting the Red armies to roll westward towards East Prussia, Warsaw—and Berlin! Polotsk is the open sesame to Latvia and Lithuania, and the onrushing Muscovites were said to be less than a score of miles from the frontiers of these Baltic states today.

May Spell Defeat

As remarked in this column recently, the progress of the European war as a whole in the immediate future seems to me to depend largely on this battle of Minsk and on the developing battle of Normandy. The triumph of Minsk, coupled with early Allied success in smashing through the German defenses in Normandy into the French hinterland, most certainly would (or let's say "will") speed the termination of the war vastly.

These two major victories will set the eastern and western millstones to grinding at full speed on their Hitlerian grist.

The western Allies are getting ahead with their part of the contract in their Herculean amphibious operation which has no parallel in history. They retain the initiative and are steadily attacking to crash the German gate to the open fields of France.

The Americans on the Allied right wing during the past twenty-four hours have driven the Nazis back to within a mile of La Haye du Puits, German anchor in western Normandy. On the other flank, the Canadians were fighting hand to hand with the Hitlerites three miles from the railway center of Caen, which is the padlock on the Nazi barrier across the peninsula.

set up at the Geneva conference several years ago.

The man hunt will continue until the prisoners are apprehended. Special agents of the FBI out of Philadelphia, Harrisburg, York, Baltimore and other offices are on the hunt. State police throughout Pennsylvania and Maryland are also searching for the men. Local police in many communities also have been pressed into the search.

Search Near York Springs

Early Monday evening the state police teletype system began carrying "tips" on persons resembling the prisoners being seen in widely separated sections of the state. Some of the "hottest" tips came from several sections of Adams county.

Early Monday evening the pair were reported sighted three miles east of here on the Lincoln highway. Police went to the scene but found the pair in question had "hitchhiked" rides toward York.

About midnight Monday Sheriff John E. Millhines saw two men pass Fair's service station about two miles from York Springs on the Hanover road while he inquired of persons there if any persons answering the descriptions of the two Germans had been seen.

Tip From Carlisle

Millhines turned his car and started in the direction the two had taken but found they had disappeared, presumably into woodland along the roadside. He notified state police and together they searched the section along with a small detachment of soldiers until dawn when about 30 guards were sent to the area for a three-hour fruitless search.

Tuesday afternoon a report said the pair were seen in Carlisle and a short time later along the Conodoguinet creek which flows toward the Susquehanna. Guards were rushed to the area and state police were summoned from nearby substations but the search was in vain.

SMASHING AIR ATTACKS CRACK NAZI TARGETS

By AUSTIN BEALNEAR
London, July 5 (AP)—In one of the most devastating series of night assaults since the Normandy invasion began, British heavy and light bombers smashed at railroads, troop concentrations and flying bomb nests in France last night while Mosquitoes struck anew at the enemy's fuel supply by blasting a synthetic oil plant in the Ruhr.

Indications that Germany was getting another pounding today came from the German radio, which said that the bomber formations were approaching the northwestern part of the Reich.

During the sweeping overnight operations, which climaxed a July 4 display of aerial might in which nearly 5,000 planes ranged over the continent yesterday, RAF Lancasters and Halifaxes pounded railway yards at Villeneuve St. Georges on the southeastern outskirts of Paris and at Orleans, 75 miles to the south.

Bomb Robot Ramps
The blows renewed a campaign recently interrupted by bad weather—to disrupt the movement of enemy supplies and reinforcements to the Normandy battlefront.

Another formation of British heavies plastered launching ramps for flying bombs in northern France—the second heavy attack in less than 24 hours on the air of the robot raiders which continued to drone across the channel during the night.

Fourteen heavy bombers were reported lost in the attack on rail yards below Paris while 13 planes were lost in raids on the Ruhr and the rocketbomb nests and in mine-laying operations. The Germans asserted 40 four-engined bombers were downed during the night.

Mosquitoes and bombers of the Second Tactical Air Force also ranged over France during the night, making what Allied Air Headquarters described as a record number of attacks on German communications.

Timed With Drives
In a running parade that filled England's skies from dawn to dusk, bombers and fighters attacked scores of targets Tuesday in close support of the American and British-Canadian ground drives in Normandy as the weather at last showed signs of improvement.

At the same time up to 500 American heavy bombers from Italy blasted an oil refinery at Braso, Romania.

A rally of yesterday's operations, still incomplete, listed 15 British-based Allied planes, including two heavy bombers, lost against not less than 23 German planes shot down. 17 of them by American Thunderbolts in a 15-minute dogfight over a Nazi air field in France.

Around 500 American Flying Fortresses and Liberators from Britain bombed a string of German air bases in northern France while RAF Lancasters and Halifaxes resumed their attacks on the Pas de Calais robot launching grounds after a one-day layoff.

American fighter-bombers ranged ahead of the Yankee ground forces driving southward on the Cherbourg peninsula, hitting German troop concentrations, gun positions, trench lines, supply dumps and transports. RAF tactical planes gave the same kind of support to General Montgomery's men driving against Caen.

SEEK FIEND IN ATTACK ON GIRL

Pittsburgh, July 5 (AP)—Police today intensified a search for a tall man with a moustache who criminally attacked and stabbed a ten-year-old girl and then dug a grave in which police believe he intended to place his victim.

The girl, Helen Hrisina, of suburban Blawnox, was in Pittsburgh hospital today in a critical condition. The attack occurred yesterday near Highland Park.

County Detective Albert Sheddlock said the child gasped out this story of how the assailant attacked her after coaxing her into his automobile with an offer to drive her home.

After being separated from her companions in the park, she began walking home. The man then coaxed her into an automobile, drove to a lonely bridge path and there attacked and stabbed her three times in the lungs.

The child, covered with blood, then staggered to a nearby home and collapsed in the arms of a farmhand, who brought her to the hospital. Some of the crime was established by police who found the child's pink ribbon hair bow, torn, bedraggled and soaked with blood.

LODGE MAN DIES

Greensburg, Pa., July 5 (AP)—Robert J. Voegelé, 72, prominent businessman and active in fireman and fraternal circles, died at his home in Spanish Villa last night.

RELIEF DROPS

Harrisburg, July 5 (AP)—Pennsylvania relief grants dropped to $66,000,000 during the fiscal year ending May 31, the Department of Public Assistance reports. The cost in pre-war 1939-40 was $141,000,000.

Sued By OPA For Treble Damages

Pittsburgh, July 5 (AP)—Tasty Products Co., Inc., of Philadelphia, Pa., is named in a petition filed in Federal court by the Office of Price Administration, asking treble damages totaling $610.20.

The petition alleges the company sold meats to the amount of $202.40 in excess of wholesale ceiling prices. It seeks an injunction restraining the company from further violations of OPA regulations and asks that a balance of 76,373 ration points be given up for cancellation.

33 DIE IN PENNA. OVER HOLIDAY

(By The Associated Press)
Thirty-three persons met death in Pennsylvania over the July Fourth week-end, ten in auto accidents, 11 by drowning and 12 in miscellaneous accidents.

In eastern Pennsylvania, four died in auto accidents, two by drowning and five by various other means.

Marie Pennoch, 2, was killed when a car jumped over a curb in Chester and struck her as she played on the sidewalk.

Frederick Label and Wayne Hanneb, both of South Williamsport, died in the blazing crash of their plane in Williamsport.

In central Pennsylvania deaths, Virginia Barr, 11, South Williamsport, drowned; Mrs. Raymond Rummel, 36, drowned at Philadelphia; Harry Hunt, 36, of Woodland, was killed in an auto accident at Wallacetown.

There were 13 deaths in western Pennsylvania, seven from drowning.

Drownings: John Crowell in Canadota lake, Corry; George Atlee Reid, of Kittanning, in Allegheny river near East Brady; Robert Cristanti, 12, Pittsburgh; Minnie S. Brinkham, 55, of Mt. Lebanon, drowned at Pittsburgh; Victor Kulienko, 17, of Imperial; Howard Malibonski, 9, of Pittsburgh; Richard Bryant, 6, of Pittsburgh.

Other western Pennsylvania deaths: Thomas Wright, of three mills, found dead in car, apparently a victim of carbon monoxide; Mrs. Myrtle Turner, of Dunbar, auto fatality near Uniontown; Floyd E. Way, USN, auto fatality near Clearburg; Frederick Harbilly, 11, fell from a bridge over the Allegheny river; auto fatality at Connellsville; and William Nee, 70, fell from hay load near Greensburg.

DEWEY BUSY ON CAMPAIGN

Albany, N. Y., July 5 (AP)—Telephone conferences with party leaders kept Governor Thomas E. Dewey abreast today of fast unfolding organization plans which appeared likely to concentrate the direction of senatorial and congressional, as well as presidential, campaigns in New York city headquarters.

The Republican presidential nominee who spent a quiet holiday at the executive mansion yesterday, has conferred frequently by telephone with Herbert Brownell, Jr., GOP national chairman. Otherwise he has attained remarkable seclusion for a presidential candidate since his return to Albany last Saturday from Chicago.

Dewey has had no appointments with party leaders this week and has expressed the desire not to hold conferences at his farm near Pawling, N. Y., where he will go Friday for a "homecoming" celebration and rest.

However, the Dewey strategy board has been busy with plans to weld the customary congressional and senatorial campaigns into the drive for the presidency. Tentative arrangements also are underway for a conference with other Republican governors in an attempt to enlist their active support in the vote-getting battle.

Urges Registration Of Pa. Servicemen

Washington, July 5 (AP)—Pennsylvanians today were urged by Dr. Ralph Cooper Hutchinson, State civilian defense director, to register immediately names of servicemen in their families with local civilian defense groups in order to facilitate military balloting in November.

Names and military addresses are the only information required for the registration which must be completed by Friday—military balloting day, Hutchinson said.

Election boards will sit from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m. that day to accept final registrations.

DEDICATE CHURCH

New Kensington, Pa., July 5 (AP)—The Most Rev. Hugh C. Boyle, bishop of the Pittsburgh diocese, dedicated the new St. Peter's Catholic church here yesterday. The church was built and decorated mainly by the parishioners themselves from sections of the R. B. Mellon mansion in Pittsburgh.

Carlisle, Pa., July 5 (AP)—A plane crash seven miles from here killed Frederick Weisbrod, 30, Camden, New Jersey, and Clarence Newton Adams, 26, New Kingston, instructor and head mechanic, respectively, at the nearby Taylor Aviation Field.

Witnesses said the plane failed to come out of a spin during an acrobatic flight Saturday.

JAP BASES 700 MILES SOUTH OF TOKYO BLASTED

Pearl Harbor, July 5 (AP)—Guns of American warships and rockets of carrier planes shattered Japanese bases 700 miles south of Tokyo on the Fourth of July.

Salpan, on the invasion route to Japan, is seven-eighths in the hands of still advancing tank marines and soldiers.

Noemfoor, on the invasion route to the Philippines, is falling in a lightning operation to infantrymen, reinforced by paratroopers.

The latest task force thrust toward Nippon, aimed at the volcano (Kazan) and Bonin Islands, resulted in the sinking or beaching of three Jap destroyers, the sinking of two other ships and the destruction in sky battles of from 61 to 80 planes at a cost of nine American carrier aircraft.

These fast-breaking developments along a western Pacific war front of more than 2,000 miles—from the Bonins to Dutch New Guinea's Geelvink bay—were reported in a series of communiques last night and today.

Report Guam Raid
Tokyo radio added the unconfirmed report that carrier-based American planes raided Guam, south of Salpan, Monday.

The volcano-Bonin attack was a two-day operation which raised to 36 the number of Japanese ships sunk and to 826 the total of enemy planes destroyed since the western Pacific offensive opened June 10. American losses for the same period were listed as 160 planes—and four warships damaged, but none sunk.

Adm. Nimitz said the fourth of July attack also left an enemy destroyer dead in the water and burning, damaged several small cargo ships and set fire to harbor installations and warehouses.

Carrier planes opened the operation the day before, blasting Iwo Jima in the volcano group, shooting down 38 interceptors for certain, probably bagging 16 more and destroying or damaging 24 on the ground. Three raiders were lost.

Down 25 Planes
On the second day, cruisers and destroyers moved in to shell Iwo Jima while rocket-ship planes attacked both it and Iwo Jima in the Bonins, downing 25 enemy planes. Six raiders were lost.

More than 7,000 of the enemy have been slain on Salpan, invaded June 11.

The unconquered eighth of the island is largely terraced tableland in contrast with the overgrown mountainous areas where the Japs converted each cave into a stronghold.

In the southwest Pacific, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Sixth Army troops which quickly won an airfield on Noemfoor opened a powerful push Monday toward a second "drome," backed by reinforcements parachuted to the beachhead.

Between the Salpan and Noemfoor invasion scenes, the far eastern airforce dealt a fairly heavy blow at Yap and also raided Palau and Woleai in the western Carolines.

Tokyo radio, in referring to the Bonin-volcano attacks, spoke of "heavy fighters" which Berlin radio promptly interpreted as a commando raid. Inasmuch as Nimitz made no mention of any landings, it appeared the Japs either referred to heavy aerial action or reflected fears that such attacks presaged landings.

Abbottstown

Miss Josephine Hafer, Harrisburg, recently visited her mother, Mrs. Edna Hafer, her brother, Cpl. Donald Hafer, will leave on July 5 for camp after a 17-day furlough spent at his home.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chubb, Ridge, Md., spent the week-end with Mrs. Chubb's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emer Butt.

David Meckley received a bursted ear drum when he was kicked on the ear accidentally by Blaine Wildasin while swimming Thursday night in a dam on the Meckley farm.

Mrs. Martha Gladfelter entertained about 30 guests at a wedding dinner in honor of her son, Richard, who was recently married to Miss Agnes Breighner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Breighner.

By the time the 35th anniversary was held the park commission had established roads and the soldiers were able to visit more of the field on that trip. Mr. Gilbert added.

Black drivers from as far away as Pen Mar drove to the field that summer to take tourists over the battlefield.

In closing his talk Mr. Gilbert urged the Rotarians to "see what you can do about" having some form of activity here on July 1, 2, 3, and 4, each year. Innumerable tourists have driven here over that period expecting some activity at that time in celebration of the battle here, he added, and were disappointed when they found no activities planned.

SAYS HITLER IS "ON LAST MILE" IN WAR EFFORT

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press War Analyst)

When you step back from close analysis of every move in our global war and view it broadly—as I've been doing for the past fortnight—it can't fail to inspire profound confidence that Allied affairs prosper exceedingly.

One may legitimately go further and, in answer to the common query of whether the European conflict is nearing its end, say that Herr Hitler is indeed on his last mile, and his knees are knocking. However, we must follow this with the caution that the greatest tragedy which could come out of this war would be for the Allied home fronts to slacken in their efforts at this crucial moment on the theory that the battle is won.

It won't be won until the Fuehrer is out, cold, and the amount of striking power which we must expend to achieve this expeditiously will far exceed anything we've used thus far. The greater and the faster the action, the greater the consumption of material. And after Hitler comes Tojo.

Supreme Efforts
The Nazi dictator's weakness has become more apparent now that we have him battling on three land fronts—east, south and west. He hasn't either the reserves in manpower or the equipment with which to meet the onslaught but is depending, as he said at the week-end, on "national fanaticism" to pull him through. And no wonder, for history has recorded nothing to equal the magnitude of either the great Russian offensive of the Allied amphibious invasion of Normandy. Each of these operations is supreme in its class.

Three weeks ago Stalin in a tribute to the assault on western Europe declared that "the history of war does not know any such undertaking so broad in conception, so grandiose in scale and so masterly in execution." Since then he himself has inaugurated a land offensive of such power that much the same thing can be said of it. The operations are different but each represents the peak of military strength.

No Safe Direction
Despite the catastrophe which is piling up about him in Russia, Hitler has been compelled to withdraw some troops to try to stem the invasion of Normandy. That shout of lack of manpower, if the withdrawal continues, it will mean that the Russians will open fresh offensives against the weakened sectors. There's no direction in which Hitler can turn safely.

The capture of Cherbourg, with its great harbor facilities, opens the funnel through which the western Allies can pour a vast army to march against Berlin from the west. No trouble about reserves there!

With Cherbourg nailed down and the beachheads secure, it seems that it would take an upheaval of nature to oust the Allied forces from the peninsula. One other thing remains to make our route to Germany secure—that's the defeat of Marshal Rommel in the impending all-out German counter-attack in the strategic Caen region near the eastern end of the Allied line.

The Nazi marshal has been massing his troops and armor, and spar-

Garden State Park Opening

Camden, N. J., July 5 (AP)—Garden State park opened its third wartime season today, offering the customer everything the law allows except a way to get there.

The sky was clear and the track's general manager, Walter Donovan, said he wouldn't be surprised if 15,000 potential betters turned out for the eight-race card, which featured the six-furlong $7,500 added Camden handicap.

SMASHING AIR ATTACKS CRACK NAZI TARGETS

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

London, July 5 (AP)—In one of the most devastating series of night assaults since the Normandy invasion began, British heavy and light bombers smashed at railroads, troop concentrations and flying bomb nests in France last night while Mosquitoes struck anew at the enemy's fuel supply by blasting a synthetic oil plant in the Ruhr.

Indications that Germany was getting another pounding today came from the German radio, which said that the bomber formations were approaching the northwestern part of the Reich.

During the sweeping overnight operations, which climaxed a July 4 display of aerial might in which nearly 5,000 planes ranged over the continent yesterday, RAF Lancasters and Halifaxes pounded railway yards at Villeneuve St. Georges on the southeastern outskirts of Paris and at Orleans, 75 miles to the south.

Bomb Robot Ramps

The blows renewed a campaign—recently interrupted by bad weather—to disrupt the movement of enemy supplies and reinforcements to the Normandy battlefield.

Another formation of British heavies plastered launching ramps for flying bombs in northern France—the second heavy attack in less than 24 hours on the air of the robot raiders which continued to drone across the channel during the night.

Fourteen heavy bombers were reported lost in the attack on rail yards below Paris while 13 planes were lost in raids on the Ruhr and the rocketbomb nests and in mine-laying operations. The Germans asserted 40 four-engine bombers were downed during the night.

Mosquitoes and Bostons of the Second Tactical Air Force also ranged over France during the night, making what Allied Air Headquarters described as a record number of attacks on German communications.

Timed With Drives

In a running parade that filled England's skies from dawn to dusk, bombers and fighters attacked scores of targets Tuesday in close support of the American and British-Canadian ground drives in Normandy as the weather at last showed signs of improvement.

At the same time up to 500 American heavy bombers from Italy blasted an oil refinery at Brasov, Romania.

A tally of yesterday's operations, still incomplete, listed 15 British-based Allied planes, including two heavy bombers, lost against not less than 23 German planes shot down, 17 of them by American Thunderbolts in a 15-minute dogfight over a Nazi air field in France.

Around 500 American Flying Fortresses and Liberators from Britain bombed a string of German air bases in northern France while RAF Lancasters and Halifaxes resumed their attacks on the Pas de Calais robot launching grounds after a one-day layoff.

American fighter-bombers ranged ahead of the Yankee ground forces driving southward on the Cherbourg peninsula, hitting German troop concentrations, gun positions, trench concentrations, supply dumps and transports. RAF tactical planes gave the same kind of support to General Montgomery's men driving against Caen.

Pearl Harbor, July 5 (AP)—Guns of American warships and rockets of carrier planes shattered Japanese bases 700 miles south of Tokyo on the Fourth of July.

Saipan, on the invasion route to Japan, is seven-eighths in the hands of still advancing Yank marines and soldiers.

Noemfoor, on the invasion route to the Philippines, is falling in a lightning operation to infantrymen, reinforced by paratroopers.

The latest task force thrust toward Nippon, aimed at the volcano (Kazan) and Bonin islands, resulted in the sinking or beaching of three Jap destroyers, the sinking of two other ships and the destruction in sky battles of from 64 to 80 planes at a cost of nine American carrier aircraft.

These fast-breaking developments along a western Pacific war front of more than 2,000 miles—from the Bonins to Dutch New Guinea's Geelvink bay—were reported in a series of communiques last night and today.

Report Guam Raid

Tokyo radio added the unconfirmed report that carrier-based American planes raided Guam, south of Saipan, Monday.

The volcano-Bonin attack was a two-day operation which raised to 36 the number of Nipponese ships sunk and to 826 the total of enemy planes destroyed since the western Pacific offensive opened June 10. American losses for the same period were listed as 160 planes—and four warships damaged, but none sunk.

Adm. Nimitz said the fourth of July attack also left an enemy destroyer dead in the water and burning, damaged several small cargo ships and set fire to harbor installations and warehouses.

Carrier planes opened the operation the day before, blasting Two Jima in the volcano group, shooting down 38 interceptors for certain, probably bagging 16 more and destroying or damaging 24 on the ground. Three raiders were lost.

Down 25 Planes

On the second day, cruisers and destroyers moved in to shell Two Jima while rocket-firing planes attacked both it and Haha Jima in the Bonins, downing 25 enemy planes. Six raiders were lost.

More than 7,000 of the enemy have been slain on Saipan, invaded June 14.

The unconquered eighth of the island is largely terraced tableland in contrast with the overrun mountainous areas where the Japs converted each cave into a stronghold.

In the southwest Pacific, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Sixth Army troops which quickly won an airfield on Noemfoor opened a second "drome," backed by reinforcements parachuted to the beachhead.

Between the Saipan and Noemfoor invasion scenes, the far eastern airforce dealt a fairly heavy blow at Yap and also raided Palau and Woleai in the western Carolines.

Tokyo radio, in referring to the Bonin-volcano attacks, spoke of "heavy fighters" which Berlin radio promptly interpreted as a commando raid. Inasmuch as Nimitz made no mention of any landings, it appeared the Japs either referred to heavy aerial action or reflected fears that such attacks presaged landings.

By the time the 25th anniversary was held the park commission had established roads and the soldiers were able to visit more of the field on that trip, Mr. Gilbert added. Hack drivers from as far away as Pen Mar drove to the field that summer to take tourists over the battlefield.

In closing his talk Mr. Gilbert urged the Rotarians to "see what you can do about" having some form of activity here on July 1, 2, 3, and 4, each year. Innumerable tourists have driven here over that period expecting some activity at that time in celebration of the battle here, he added, and were disappointed when they found no activities planned.

A German transoceanic broadcast recorded today by the Associated Press said Hitler received the production chiefs at his headquarters following a conference with Prof. Albert Speer, minister of munitions.

SAYS HITLER IS "ON LAST MILE" IN WAR EFFORT

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

(Associated Press War Analyst)

When you step back from close analysis of every move in our global war and view it broadly—as I've been doing for the past fortnight—it can't fail to inspire profound confidence that Allied affairs prosper exceedingly.

One may legitimately go further and, in answer to the common query of whether the European conflict is nearing its end, say that Herr Hitler is indeed on his last mile, and his knees are knocking. However, we must follow this with the caution that the greatest tragedy which could come out of this war would be for the Allied home fronts to slacken in their efforts at this crucial moment on the theory that the battle is won.

It won't be won until the Fuehrer is out, cold, and the amount of striking power which we must expend to achieve this expeditiously will far exceed anything we've used thus far. The greater and the faster the action, the greater the consumption of material. And after Hitler comes Tojo.

Supreme Efforts

The Nazi dictator's weakness has become more apparent now that we have him battling on three land fronts—east, south and west. He hasn't either the reserves in manpower or the equipment with which to meet the onslaught but is depending, as he said at the week-end, on "national fanaticism" to pull him through. And no wonder, for history has recorded nothing to equal the magnitude of either the great Russian offensive of the Allied amphibious invasion of Normandy. Each of these operations is supreme in its class.

Three weeks ago Stalin in a tribute to the assault on western Europe declared that "the history of war does not know any such undertaking so broad in conception, so grandiose in scale and so masterly in execution." Since then he himself has inaugurated a land offensive of such power that much the same thing can be said of it. The operations are different but each represents the peak of military strength.

No Safe Direction

Despite the catastrophe which is piling up about him in Russia, Hitler has been compelled to withdraw some troops to try to stem the invasion of Normandy. That shouts of lack of manpower. If the withdrawals continue, it will mean that the Russians will open fresh offensives against the weakened sectors. There's no direction in which Hitler can turn safely.

The capture of Cherbourg, with its great harbor facilities, opens the funnel through which the western Allies can pour a vast army to march against Berlin from the west. No trouble about reserves there!

With Cherbourg nailed down and the beachheads secure, it seems that it would take an upheaval of nature to oust the Allied forces from the peninsula. One other thing remains to make our route to Germany secure—that's the defeat of Marshal Rommel in the impending all-out German counter-attack in the strategic Caen region near the eastern end of the Allied line.

STABILIZATION FUND DEFENDED AT CONFERENCE

Bretton Woods, N. H., July 5 (AP)—Harry D. White came to vigorous defense today of the projected international currency stabilization fund he is seeking to pilot through the United Nations monetary conference but cautioned it "will perform no miracles."

Acting as official conference spokesman, the American delegate lashed out at critics of the proposal after reporting to newsmen that first conference sessions have not yet brought decisions on any controversial issues.

Rep. Somers (D-NY) observing the parley as an adviser to the American delegation, told a reporter he had noted what he termed an encouraging attitude of compromise on the part of the 44 participating nations.

White replied specifically to those who have contended this country would be pouring $2,500,000,000 in a giant "rat hole," who have said the United States must maintain permanently its pre-war foreign trade position of exports larger than imports and who say America's vast gold hoard is useless.

That's nonsense. First outlining again the function of the proposed fund as a mechanism for providing all nations with the monies of other countries they need to pay their foreign trade debts, White emphasized the fund's aggregate value will remain constant at $8,000,000,000. This, he said, will be achieved by requiring larger contributions of any depreciated currency.

Turning to the contemplated project and its relation to this country, White said "There seems to be a notion that the United States must have a favorable balance of payments indefinitely."

"That is nonsense," he said, "given full employment and a high national income this country would import large quantities of goods, many Americans would travel abroad and many, too, would send their dollars overseas in the form of investments, thus creating a demand for foreign exchange."

LITTLE GIRL TRAGEDY

However so watchful the vigilant eye.

It's certain to happen if scissors are high.

Three and a half, scarcely going on four.

And the worst that can happen has happened once more!

Notwithstanding her mother's devotion and care.

Ellen Elizabeth snipped off her hair!

Was never, I fancy, a bright little girl.

Who didn't get scissors and cut off a curl.

You may think she is guarded, but just turn your back.

She'll pounce on the scissors her tresses to hack!

Her mother has written this wail of despair:

Ellen Elizabeth snipped off her hair!

All girl children do it! At least so I hear.

There's always the time when the scissors are near.

There's always that minute when none may behold.

They cut off their treasure of auburn or gold.

And now to our sorrow her forehead is bare.

Ellen Elizabeth snipped off her hair!

Today's Talk

SIMPLE AND HOMEY THINGS

Too many of us grow bored with life because we can't ride the big waves, where people can see us and acclaim our feats. The beauty and permanence of all joy are concentrated in simple and homely things—things that touch our everyday lives and keep up human and companionable.

The soldier, overseas, with the few moments of leisure that he may have from time to time, concentrates his thoughts upon these simple and homely things that mean so much to him, in the little town from which he came—from the farm, or among his small group in the city. It has been said that these are the things for which he is fighting—to keep them permanent—but of course there is a larger idea behind all, and that is to preserve their endless possibility.

Wanderers over the face of the earth return to their home grounds, to thrill over the simple and homely things that previously they had hardly given a thought to. We miss most those things about which we may never have given a thought, until they are taken from us.

Trying to gain great things, we lose the significance of small things—the simple and homely things that really count most in a well-rounded and happy life.

I like butter the better, for once I churned it upon the farm. My thoughts run back to the time when I tramped miles and miles behind a team of horses, cultivating row upon row of green, flowing corn. Bread becomes significant to me because I once cut with a cradle and bound the wheat in bundles, as I followed the reaper. Water tasted fresher and gave to me more exhilaration because I drew it from a deep well, and touched it with the taste of romance.

The simple and homely things of life keep following us in our memory. They contribute to our spiritual wealth. Simple and homely things stay with us. When life has been lived well to its full, the mind and heart hunger for a return to those simple and homely things that gave them hope, beauty and endurance.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Relationship."

WAGNER TURNS DOWN POST AT CONVENTION

By DOUGLAS E. CORNELL
(By The Associated Press)
Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York, two-time chairman of the platform-making, Resolutions Committee at Democratic National convention, has declined the job again and party leaders were reported today to have offered it to a prominent house member.

The Democratic National Committee expects to announce the name of the new chairman before the week ends. That will permit appointment of a subcommittee which will assemble in Chicago before July 17, hold hearings, and put up a scaffolding for erection of the 1944 national party platform.

The subcommittee will have no power to act. The convention itself, which begins July 19, must create the resolutions and all other major committees.

Ask Two-Thirds Rule
It will be in the credentials committee that a scrap may develop over seating fourth term or anti-fourth term delegates from some states. The committee on rules and order of business will have to pass on Southern demands for the restoration of a rule that a two-thirds vote is necessary to nominate.

One reason Wagner turned down the resolutions chairmanship is that he is attending an International Monetary Conference at Bretton Woods, New Hampshire. The conference probably will overlap the Democratic candidate picking.

Except for the Democrats' planning, the Fourth of July was largely a holiday politically. Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, the Republican presidential nominee, took things easy.

Negroes Refused Vote.
In Georgia a quiet, Democratic primary was marked by the efforts of Negroes to vote. They were refused permission but their efforts laid the basis for a court test.

Senator Walter F. George easily won renomination. Rep. Cox of Georgia's second congressional district, a critic of the Federal Communications Commission, was apparently headed for return to the House and Reps. Peterson of the first district and Gibson of the eighth held commanding leads over their opponents. Former Congressman John S. Wood apparently was a winner in the ninth. Other Georgia congressmen were unopposed.

In Mississippi, Rep. John E. Rankin held a strong lead in the State's first district congressional race, heading his opponents by about eight to one. Rep. Whitten held a three-to-one lead in the second district while Rep. Abernathy held a lead of about 4,000 to 300 in the fourth district with half the precincts counted.

Other Expenses
Warner Brothers are providing six stage and property hands to take care of the stage equipment and lighting effects for tonight's revenue. Although the stage and property hands are being paid by Warner, their expenses while in Gettysburg are being taken care of by the county War Finance Committee.

Other show expenses being borne by the county committee are transportation of men and property and stage effects from New Cumberland, dinners for members of the cast and rental of costumes, scenery stage effects, stage platform and spotlights.

Gettysburg high school girls, appointed by Principal Guile W. Leffer, will act as ushers at the show under the direction of Fred Troxell, faculty member. They are Phyllis Menchey, Mildred Walter, Barbara Johnson, Helen Adams, Freda Blochman, Ethel Robert, Elizabeth Hoffman, Gertrude White, Jean Kuhn, Arlene Rohrbach, Lorraine Rohrbach, Ruth Fortenbaugh, Phyllis Reaver, Canale Cargas, Theresa Riley, Grace Myers, Lois Waybright, Mary W. to work in county cherry orchards Thursday.

Jennings B. Collins, field representative for the Emergency Farm Labor committee, said today that the number of Jamaicans working in this county from the camp in Franklin county, is being increased from the 97 used Monday to 145 today and 183 on Thursday. The Jamaicans are described as "fine workers."

Collins said "re-enforcements" for the various camps are expected to arrive here next week to keep the number of workers up to the capacity of the camps.

More workers will be needed Thursday when picking is scheduled to start in the big Blue Ribbon orchards of the C. H. Musselman company. Trucks to carry workers to those orchards will leave at 6:30 o'clock each morning from the Ford garage, center square and the Eberhart hotel.

The Orlinians Canning company at Orrstown which began full-scale canning operations Monday sends trucks to the court house corner each morning at 6:30 o'clock to pick up workers while H. G. Baugher of Aspers sends a truck to the post-office corner daily at the same hour.

Pickers are receiving the highest wages ever paid by cherry growers, more than double last year's wages in most orchards.

The growers furnish transportation to and from the orchards for all workers. The special camps are financed by the Emergency Farm Labor committee.

102 GUIDE TRIPS OVER WEEK-END

Guided trips of the Gettysburg Battlefield reached a new high for this year over the three-day July 4th holiday period, Sunday to Tuesday, inclusive, according to a report by William H. Allison, superintendent of the National cemetery.

There were 85 long trips with 225 persons, 17 short trips with 69 persons and one bus with 28 passengers.

Last year, traffic over the battlefield dropped to an all time low, less than 200 cars went over the field during the three day period and there were only 13 guided tours over the entire Fourth of July holiday. One hundred and forty cars visited the field on Saturday and Sunday, July 2 and 3, 1943, and only 32 cars were seen on the field on July 4 last year. During the three days 100 of the cars were from Pennsylvania and Maryland. Even pedestrian traffic dropped over the Fourth of July last year with 200 counted Saturday, 350 on Sunday and only 40 on Monday, July 4, 1943.

In 1942, 2,100 tourists visited the field during the Fourth of July period and in 1941 17,000 visited during the period.

several occasions workers there were not veterans.

An official of the Legion today explained that while both the War Department and Department of Interior obtain their employees from civil service and veterans are given a preference in civil service, under the proposed change "a non-veteran would not have any chance whatsoever to obtain a job at the national cemeteries."

Some Favor Disabled
Some members of the Legion were said today to be in favor of having only disabled veterans in charge at the cemeteries. While "excellent jobs" are being done by all present cemetery superintendents, members said, the change to disabled veterans should be made when present officials retire from their posts.

While the present resolution would not allow anyone but a veteran to hold any job in the cemetery an official of the local Legion said today that it is not the intention of the Legion to prevent use of a temporary employee, such as a paperhanger or electrician for a few hours or day's work if no veterans are available, but that it is feared that if "temporary employees" are allowed to be non-veterans, advantage may be made on the behalf of some employee and he would remain a "temporary employee" even though he worked at a cemetery for years.

The problem of properly wording a resolution to take care of the contingency will be one of the matters to come before the district meeting, he said.

An official of the Legion added that transfer of the cemeteries from the Department of Interior to the War Department would "cut out any possibility of politics creeping into the selection of cemetery personnel."

Now's the time to can green beans

Here's how to can them for your table. Let your Gas range help you make the most of this nutritious food!

- 1 Wash thoroughly, use only fresh beans, within two hours of gathering.
- 2 String or cut beans, as desired.
- 3 Be sure to pre-cook beans in salt water, 5 to 5 minutes.
- 4 Fill jars to within an inch of top. Don't pack too tightly.
- 5 Process according to directions. Count time exactly.

"HOME CANNING"—a booklet that solves your canning problems in a jiffy, may be secured merely by stopping into your Gas Company office.

Here's WHY you'll want to can lots of green beans this summer: they're plentiful, they're easy to can, they're rich in vitamins; and next winter when good fresh beans are scarce and expensive, they will brighten many a meal in salads and soups, scalloped or au gratin, with sauted mushrooms, with chopped chives, and in many other tasty ways.

Read the directions at left for proper procedure in canning green beans. And for any other information on home-canning, call the Home Service Department of your Gas company—headquarters for the most reliable home canning information.

LITTLE GIRL TRAGEDY

However so watchful the vigilant eye,
It's certain to happen if scissors are nigh.

Three and a half, scarcely going on four,
And the worst that can happen has happened once more!

Notwithstanding her mother's devotion and care,
Ellen Elizabeth snipped off her hair!

Was never, I fancy, a bright little girl
Who didn't get scissors and cut off a curl.

You may think she is guarded, but just turn your back,
She'll pounce on the scissors her treasures to hack!

Her mother has written this wail of despair:
Ellen Elizabeth snipped off her hair!

All girl children do it! At least so I hear.
There's always the time when the scissors are near.

There's always that minute when none may behold,
They cut off their treasure of a burn or gold.

And now to our sorrow her forehead is bare:
Ellen Elizabeth snipped off her hair!

Today's Talk

SIMPLE AND HOMELY THINGS

Too many of us grow bored with life because we can't ride the big waves, where people can see us and acclaim our feats. The beauty and permanence of all joy are concentrated in simple and homely things—things that touch our everyday lives and keep up human and companionable.

The soldier, overseas, with the few moments of leisure that he may have from time to time, concentrates his thoughts upon these simple and homely things that mean so much to him, in the little town from which he came—from the farm, or among his small group in the city. It has been said that these are the things for which he is fighting—to keep them permanent—but of course there is a larger idea behind all, and that is to preserve their endless possibility.

Wanderers over the face of the earth return to their home grounds, to thrill over the simple and homely things that previously they had hardly given a thought to. We miss most those things about which we may never have given a thought, until they are taken from us.

Trying to gain great things, we lose the significance of small things—the simple and homely things that really count most in a well-rounded and happy life.

I like butter the better, for once I churned it upon the farm. My thoughts run back to the time when I tramped miles and miles behind a team of horses, cultivating row upon row of green, flowing corn. Bread becomes significant to me because I once cut with a cradle and bound the wheat in bundles, as I followed the reaper. Water tasted fresher and gave to me more exhilaration because I drew it from a deep well, and touched it with the taste of romance.

The simple and homely things of life keep following us in our memory. They contribute to our spiritual wealth. Simple and homely themes stay with us. When life has been lived well to its full, the mind and heart hunger for a return to those simple and homely things that first gave them hope, beauty and sustenance.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Relationship."

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Will Enforce Prohibition (By Associated Press) Washington, June 30.—Wartime prohibition effective at midnight will be strictly enforced by the Department of Justice insofar as existing machinery can function to that end.

Beer containing two and three-quarter per cent of alcohol is regarded by Department of Justice officials as intoxicating and persons who undertake its sale will be arrested, it is said.

Esther Tipton Here: Miss Esther Tipton of the United States Army Nurse Corps, is visiting her father, W. H. Tipton, Chambersburg street.

Miss Tipton spent fourteen months overseas. She possesses four stars for having participated in the Belleau Woods, Chateau Thierry, St. Mihiel, and Argonne Forest drives.

Miss Tipton left France for Germany on December 7 and did not leave until May 14.

No Excitement As Wilson Sails: Brest, June 30.—President Wilson, the treaty with Germany signed, sailed from Brest Sunday on his return to the United States. The U. S. S. George Washington, carrying the presidential party, steamed from the harbor at 2:20 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The departure of the President from France caused little excitement in the port.

Another Returns: Rev. W. D. E. Scott, of Bendersville, has received word that his son, Paul E. Scott, has arrived at Newport News, after spending twenty months overseas.

Many Hear Times Story of Flight: "Ringside seats" in front of The Times office for the best champagne bout were all taken long before the heavyweights entered the arena at Toledo Friday afternoon and it was a disappointed crowd which heard that Jess Willard, champion, had "thrown up the sponge at the end of the third round," after Jack Dempsey, challenger, had rained lefts and rights to Willard's jaw for three rounds.

New Member for School Board: George P. Black, assistant postmaster, was elected a member of the Gettysburg school board at a meeting of that body on Tuesday night. He will fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mahlon Hartzell who has left town. Mr. Black was elected secretary of the board which position was held by Mr. Hartzell. I. L. Taylor was elected to the position of treasurer.

Released from Service: Ralph Stoner of Baltimore street, who has been in the United States Navy for the past fifteen months, has received his release from active duty and has returned to his home. He was a second class petty officer on board the U. S. S. "Perry."

Candy Kitchen Sold: John Highland has purchased the Candy Kitchen beside the Eagle hotel from Gust Varelans.

Rife-Herman: Leroy Rife, Mt. Pleasant township, and Miss Fay Belle Herman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Herman, of Mt. Pleasant township, were married at the United Brethren parsonage by Rev. William R. Glen, Saturday evening.

Neff-Haner: Miss Ruth Haner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Haner of York street, and Bugler John Neff, of Scotland, were married at the home of the bride on Thursday evening at eight o'clock by Rev. J. B. Baker. Mrs. Neff wore pink crepe de chine.

Corner Stone Is Dedicated: "The simple ceremony of laying the corner stone of the Annie M. Warner hospital marks an era in the public life of this community," said Dr. J. A. Singmaster in an address delivered at the corner stone ceremony at the new hospital building on South Washington street Monday evening. Dr. Singmaster, President of the Hospital Association, was the last speaker on the program.

Other speakers were Rev. W. F. Boyle and Mr. McClean.

Taken Over Field: The usual party of twenty-four soldiers came to Gettysburg from the U. S. General Hospital 31 at Carlisle on Tuesday and were given dinner by the Can-teen Committee at St. James chapel and then taken for a trip over the battlefield in the cars of William Rex, William Weaver, Miss Eleanor Prickett, Miss Corinne Tyson, Miss Anna Gilliland and Rev. F. H. Brunstetter.

Personal: John P. Butt, Jr., has gone to New York city to attend a summer course at Columbia University.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Saunders, who have been living on Chambersburg street, have gone to Manchester, Connecticut to make their home.

Among those who went to York on Saturday were: Misses Mary, Zita and Grace Ramer, Charles Myers, Fred Faber, Mr. and Mrs. William Epley, Mrs. William Haner and son, Elmer, and Harmon Zinn.

Lieutenant Commander H. Ross McAllister of the U. S. S. Nebraska, is on a short visit to his home on High street, before sailing for the Pacific coast.

WAGNER TURNS

DOWN POST AT CONVENTION

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

(By The Associated Press)
Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York, two-time chairman of the platform-making Resolutions Committee at Democratic National conventions, has declined the job again and party leaders were reported today to have offered it to a prominent house member.

The Democratic National Committee expects to announce the name of the new chairman before the week ends. That will permit appointment of a subcommittee which will assemble in Chicago before July 17, hold hearings, and put up a scaffolding for erection of the 1944 national party platform.

The subcommittee will have no power to act. The convention itself, which begins July 19, must create the resolutions and all other major committees.

Ask Two-Thirds Rule
It will be in the credentials committee that a scrap may develop over seating fourth term or anti-fourth term delegates from some states. The committee on rules and order of business will have to pass on Southern demands for the restoration of a rule that a two-thirds vote is necessary to nominate.

One reason Wagner turned down the resolutions chairmanship is that he is attending an International Monetary Conference at Bretton Woods, New Hampshire. The conference probably will overlap the Democratic candidate picking.

Except for the Democrats' planning, the Fourth of July was largely a holiday politically. Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, the Republican presidential nominee, took things easy.

Negroes Refused Vote
In Georgia a quiet Democratic primary was marked by the efforts of Negroes to vote. They were refused permission but their efforts laid the basis for a court test.

Senator Walter F. George easily won renomination. Rep. Cox of Georgia's second congressional district, a critic of the Federal Communications Commission, was apparently headed for return to the House and Reps. Peterson of the first district and Gibson of the eighth held commanding leads over their opponents. Former Congressman John S. Wood apparently was a winner in the ninth. Other Georgia congressmen were unopposed.

In Mississippi, Rep. John E. Rankin held a strong lead in the State's first district congressional race, heading his opponents by about eight to one. Rep. Whitten held a three-to-one lead in the second district while Rep. Abernathy held a lead of about 4,000 to 300 in the fourth district with half the precincts counted.

JOBS FOR VETS
Harrisburg, July 5 (AP)—Employment is being found with "virtually no difficulty" by Pennsylvania veterans being discharged from the armed forces at the rate of 1,500 to 2,000 a month, says Col. Richard K. Mellon, state draft director.

There are about 1,200 motion picture theatres in Canada.

Use of the Majestic theatre has been given free by Warner Brothers, owners, who are cooperating through their manager, Sydney J. Poppa, member of the Adams County War Finance Committee.

As a result of activities on the stage this afternoon in arranging for the show this evening, there was no matinee at the theatre today.

Other Expenses
Warner Brothers are providing six stage and property hands to take care of the stage equipment and lighting effects for tonight's revue. Although the stage and property hands are being paid by Warner's, their expenses while in Gettysburg are being taken care of by the county War Finance Committee.

Other show expenses being borne by the county committee are transportation of men and property and stage effects from New Cumberland, dinners for members of the cast and rental of costumes, scenery, stage effects, stage platform and spotlights.

Gettysburg high school girls, appointed by Principal Guile W. LeFever, will act as ushers at the show, under the direction of Fred Troxell, faculty member. They are Phyllis Menchey, Mildred Walter, Barbara Johnson, Helen Adams, Freda Coffman, Ethel Rebert, Elizabeth Bloch, Gertrude White, Jean Kuhn, Arlene Rohrbach, Lorraine Rohrbach, Ruth Fortenbaugh, Phyllis Reaver, Canele Cargas, Theresa Riley, Grace Myers, Lois Waybright, Mary W. Heintzelman, Jane Ramer, Helen Lazos and Rena Dickert.

Property Transfers
The Hanover Trust company sold to Paul L. and Idella J. Gebhart, Conewago township, a property in that township.

John F. and Emma E. Humbert, Westminster, sold to Stewart E. and Bessie C. Williams, Hanover, a property in Conewago township.

Mary C. Stock, Reading township, sold to Edward A. and Theresa G. Barger, Baltimore, a 132-acre farm in Reading township.

Francis L. Conrad, Elizabethtown, sold to Donald Francis and Dorothy Marie Reigle, McSherrystown, a property on Main street, McSherrystown.

WORKERS COME
(Please Turn to Page 5)
to work in county cherry orchards Thursday.

Jennings B. Collins, field representative for the Emergency Farm Labor committee, said today that the number of Jamaicans working in this county from the camp in Franklin county is being increased from the 97 used Monday to 145 today and 183 on Thursday. The Jamaicans are described as "fine workers."

102 GUIDE TRIPS

OVER WEEK-END

Guided trips of the Gettysburg Battlefield reached a new high for this year over the three-day July 4th holiday period, Sunday to Tuesday, inclusive, according to a report by William H. Allison, superintendent of the National cemetery.

There were 85 long trips with 225 persons, 17 short trips with 59 persons and one bus with 28 passengers.

Last year traffic over the battlefield dropped to an all time low. Less than 200 cars went over the field during the three day period and there were only 13 guided tours over the entire Fourth of July holiday. One hundred and forty cars visited the field on Saturday and Sunday, July 2 and 3, 1943, and only 32 cars were seen on the field on July 4 last year. During the three days 100 of the cars were from Pennsylvania and Maryland. Even pedestrian traffic dropped over the Fourth of July last year with 200 counted Saturday, 350 on Sunday and only 40 on Monday, July 4, 1943.

In 1942, 2,100 tourists visited the field during the Fourth of July period and in 1941 17,000 visited during the period.

Former Councillor Faces OPA Counts

Among the five suspension order cases involving violations of price control and rationing regulations scheduled to be heard by an OPA hearing commissioner, sitting in the U. S. District courtroom, Harrisburg, today, is that of Arthur S. Kuhn, doing business as Kuhn Auto Sales and Service, Hanover. Kuhn formerly lived in Bendersville.

Kuhn faces a charge of seven different violations, as follows: (1) Opening a ration bank account when not authorized to do so; (2) Drawing checks against the ration bank account with insufficient funds on 21 separate dates; (3) Transferring gasoline without receiving in exchange valid coupons, as evidenced by a deficit in inventory amounting to 5.663 gallons on total registered capacity of 7.100 tons; (4) Transferring gasoline in exchange for invalid coupons; (5) Transferring gasoline in exchange for coupons bearing no endorsement; (6) Depositing ration currency in a bank account instead of surrendering it to the distributor in exchange for gasoline received; (7) Depositing 482 "A-B" coupons after the last day upon which they were receivable from a dealer.

The Kuhn establishment was investigated some weeks ago by the law enforcement division of the Harrisburg office.

Blondie

by BENNIE HALL
All Features

SATURDAY: Patient, war-working Louise Malone and her mother have rushed to La Guardia airport, New York city, to meet Angel—Louise's glamorous sister—whose husband is a famous missing air hero. Angel had announced by letter that she was returning to live with her mother for the duration. Both Louise and Mrs. Malone are filled with misgivings as the big plane approaches, for they know that Angel is in for a big surprise. The spoiled blonde beauty, away for three years, cannot be aware that the Malone family fortunes have fallen, that she is returning to a tenement in a Brooklyn slum—not fashionable Forest Hills.

Chapter 2

The passengers were coming out of the plane now. Men in uniform, their eager eyes seeking familiar faces among the waiting crowd, suddenly finding them, then hurrying forward to take wife, mother or sweetheart into their arms. As she watched them, Louise felt a sudden surge of pity for Angel whose Jimmie would never come home to her. It must have been hard for her riding on that plane with homecoming service men. It must have brought back a flood of memories and made her own loss all the more poignant.

A fat middle-aged man dressed in civilian clothes stood in the door of the plane now. He was smiling a little diffidently and shaking hands with himself, his pudgy arms raised high above his bald head. "A not-so-hopeful politician," thought Louise, "giving his imaginary constituents the glad hand."

She smiled as she watched the two photographers snap the man's picture and begin to fold up their cameras. It was clear that they weren't particularly sold on their subject. Louise could almost hear the tall red-headed one say, "Nuts to you, old boy. You haven't a chance." She could tell by the way his lips moved and the impatient look on his face that he was saying something like that—or worse. He was grinning, and she found herself grinning with him.

He saw her, waved a hand, and his lips formed the words: "Hi there. Beautiful." It was unmistakable.

Louise frowned and looked back at the plane, but her suppressed smile unleashed a provocative imp in her eyes and made her dimples all the more obvious. The politician had stepped out of the doorway now and was waddling his way toward the gate. Evidently he was the last passenger. Where was Angel? Hadn't she come?

Louise glanced at her mother, and saw that the anxiety in her eyes had given way to sharp disappointment. "It's all right, Mother," said Louise, catching Martha's hand and holding it tight. "She didn't come—but that doesn't mean anything. It just means she couldn't get a seat. Priorities, you know. She'll come on the next plane."

The tears had begun to well up in Martha's eyes. "It might mean she's not coming at all. She thinks we don't want her—poor Angel. We—we don't answer."

"Of course we didn't answer her letter. How could we? It only came this morning. Don't worry, darling. She knows we want her. She'll be here."

Martha started to say something, but was interrupted by a whoop of joy from a young airport attendant who was standing nearby.

"Lookit!" he was saying "Oh boy! Lookit what's gettin' off dat plane. It's something outa dis world!"

Louise and Martha turned quickly, their eyes following the boy's pointing finger. Standing on the ground near the plane was a tall, thin woman in a nurse's uniform. She was holding a baby in her arms. Angel's baby? But Angel had said nothing about bringing a nurse...

In the door of the plane, her slim figure silhouetted against the silvery background, stood a young woman dressed in black. Her accessories were black, too, and the effect was that dramatic simplicity which designers strive for and so rarely achieve. But it was the girl who dominated the costume—and the scene.

Her hair was pure gold—and it fell in soft waves to her shoulders. Her eyes, the color of blue cornflowers, seemed to accentuate the pallor of her face, giving it an ethereal quality. Her full lips were parted in a smile that was at once wistful and alluring. Aware of her audience as if for the first time, she lifted her chin a little and almost perceptibly straightened her slim shoulders. Without knowing her or anything about her problems, the people watching her were strangely impressed. Here, it was obvious, was a brave little woman—determined to face the world calmly after a trying emotional experience of some kind. And, apparently, she was somebody important.

The photographers began hastily unfolding their cameras, setting them up again. They hadn't expected this. But they knew a photographic windfall when they saw one, and they could practically smell a good story. Evidently the young woman expected to be photographed. She was posing.

"Who is she anyhow?" asked one of the men as he focused his camera on the vision. "Strikes me as a little too perfect to be real."

The other man grinned and aimed his camera. "Even if she's phoney, she's got that it takes for a pin-up."

Louise and Martha, standing motionless on the ramp, were silent for what seemed like a long time. Then:

"It's Angel!" said Martha, the tears welling up in her eyes. "She looks so pale and so sad—poor Angel. But she's better than ever. Her pictures will be in all the newspapers tomorrow."

"Yes, she's gorgeous," said Louise. And refrained from adding: "But she's making an entrance, as usual. Poor Mother!"

FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

FLETCHER'S CASTORIA—the laxative made especially for children—is now on sale at your druggist's.

Fletcher's Castoria comes to you in a new package with two distinctive features. Look for these features when you buy:

1. The Green Band. Around each package is a brilliant green band. This band will identify for you the fresh stocks of Fletcher's Castoria now on sale.

2. The Serial Control Number. On each new bottle there is a code number plainly visible through a "window" in the package.

What the Serial Control Number means to you

To give you the utmost assurance of the quality and reliability of Fletcher's Castoria, every batch is given thorough, rigid chemical, bacteriological, and biological tests.

The Serial Control Number on each bottle is your guarantee—positive, visible proof—that all these tests have been made.

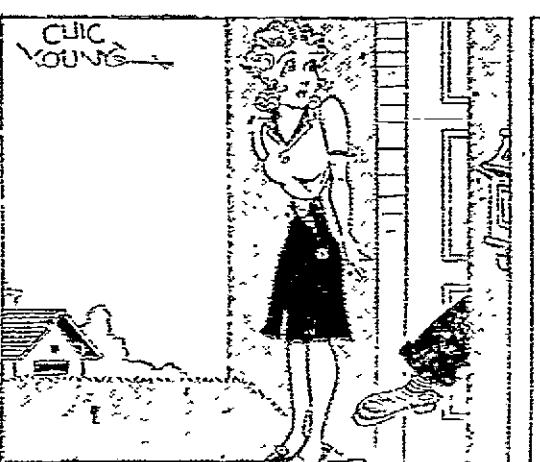

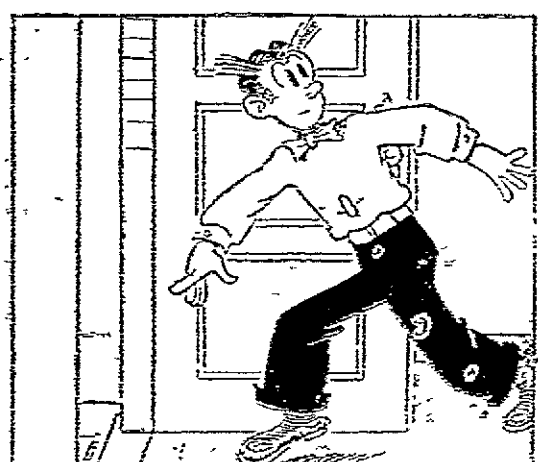

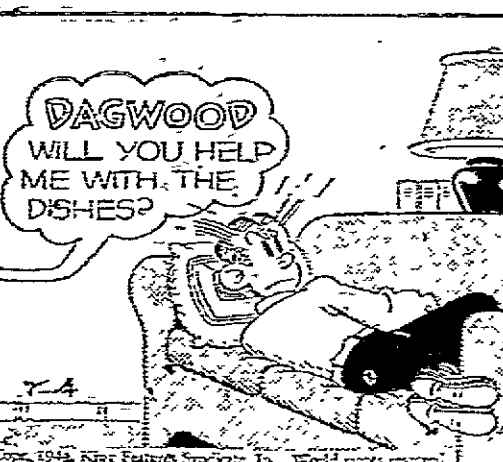

We believe that this announcement will be welcome news to you and the millions of other mothers who have long used Fletcher's Castoria as the ideal laxative for their children. We think you'll be glad to know that Fletcher's Castoria—safeguarded by extensive laboratory tests—is again available at your druggist's.

Former Couthan
Faces OPA Counts

Among the five suspension order cases involving violations of price control and rationing regulations scheduled to be heard by an OPA hearing commissioner, sitting in the U. S. District courtroom, Harrisburg, today, is that of Arthur S. Kuhn, doing business as Kuhn Auto Sales and Service, Hanover. Kuhn formerly lived in Bendersville. Kuhn faces a charge of seven different violations, as follows: (1) Opening a ration bank account when not authorized to do so; (2) Drawing checks against the ration bank account with insufficient funds on 21 separate dates; (3) Transferring gasoline without receiving in exchange valid coupons, as evidenced by a deficit in inventory amounting to 5,863 gallons on total registered capacity of 7,100 tons; (4) Transferring gasoline in exchange for invalid coupons; (5) Transferring gasoline in exchange for coupons bearing no endorsement; (6) Depositing ration currency in a bank account instead of surrendering it to the distributor in exchange for gasoline received; (7) Depositing 482 "A-B" coupons after the last day upon which they were receivable from a dealer.

The Kuhn establishment was investigated some weeks ago by the law enforcement division of the Harrisburg office.

Blonde in
by BENNIE HALL
AP Features

SATURDAY: Patient, war-working Louise Malone and her mother have rushed to LaGuardia airport, New York city, to meet Angel-Louise's glamorous sister—whose husband is a famous missing air hero. Angel had announced by letter that she was returning to live with her mother for the duration.

Both Louise and Mrs. Malone are filled with misgivings as the big plane approaches, for they know that Angel is in for a big surprise. The spoiled blonde beauty, away for three years, cannot be aware that the Malone family fortunes have fallen, that she is returning to a tenement in a Brooklyn slum—not fashionable Forest Hills.

Chapter 2

The passengers were coming out of the plane now. Men in uniform, their eager eyes seeking familiar faces among the waiting crowd, suddenly finding them, then hurrying forward to take wife, mother or sweetheart into their arms. As she watched them, Louise felt a sudden surge of pity for Angel whose Jimmie would never come home to her. It must have been hard for her riding on that plane with homecoming service men. It must have brought back a flood of memories and made her own loss all the more poignant.

A fat middle-aged man dressed in civilian clothes stood in the door of the plane now. He was smiling a little diffidently, and shaking hands with himself, his pudgy arms raised high above his bald head. "A not-so-hopeful politician," thought Louise, "giving his imaginary constituents the glad hand."

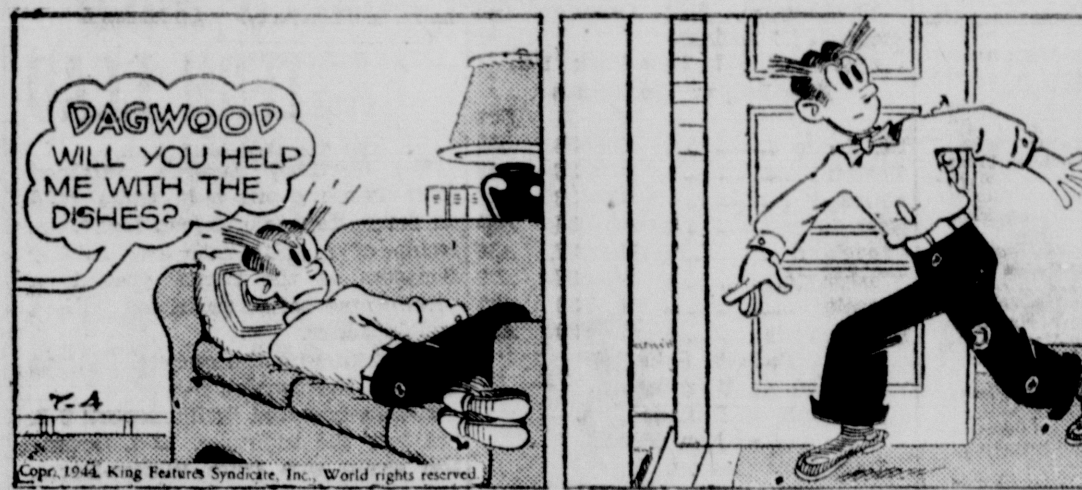

She smiled as she watched the two photographers snap the man's picture and begin to fold up their cameras. It was clear that they weren't particularly sold on their subject. Louise could almost hear the tall red-headed one say, "Nuts to you, old boy. You haven't a chance." She could tell by the way his lips moved and the impatient look on his face that he was saying something like that—or worse. He was grinning, and she found herself grinning with him.

He saw her, waved a hand, and his lips formed the words: "Hi there, Beautiful." It was unmistakable. Louise frowned and looked back at the plane, but her suppressed smile unleashed a provocative imp in her eyes and made her dimples all the more obvious. The politician had stepped out of the doorway now and was waddling his way toward the gate. Evidently he was the last passenger. Where was Angel? Hadn't she come?

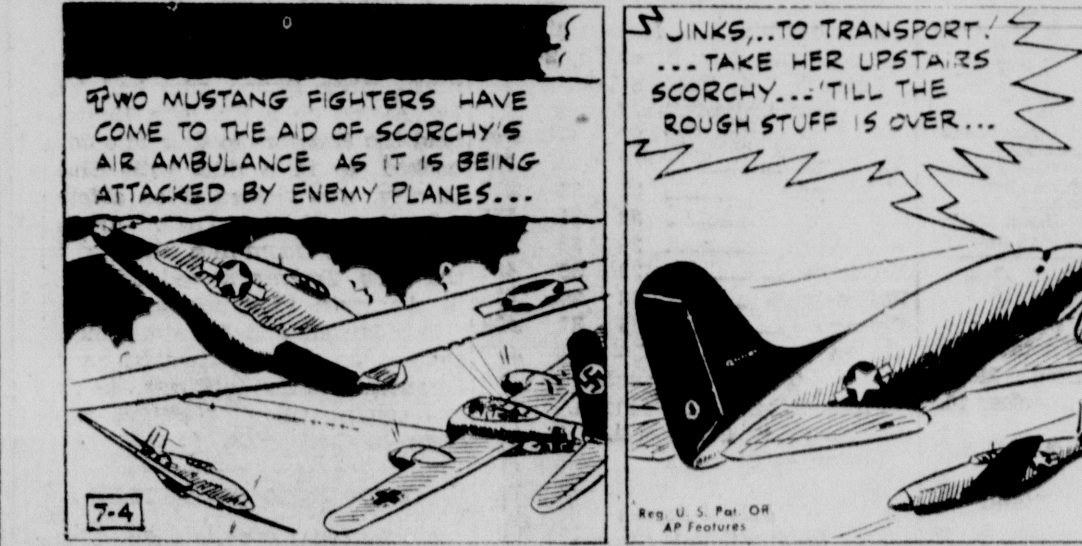

Louise glanced at her mother, and saw that the anxiety in her eyes had given way to sharp disappointment. "It's all right, Mother," said Louise, catching Martha's hand and holding it tight. "She didn't come—but that doesn't mean anything. It just means she couldn't get a seat. Priorities, you know. She'll come on the next plane."

The tears had begun to well up

Louise and Martha turned quickly, their eyes following the boy's pointing finger. Standing on the ground near the plane was a tall, thin woman in a nurse's uniform. She was holding a baby in her arms. Angel's baby? But Angel had said nothing about bringing a nurse...

In the door of the plane, her slim figure silhouetted against the silvery background, stood a young woman dressed in black. Her accessories were black, too, and the effect was that dramatic simplicity which designers strive for and so rarely achieve. But it was the girl who dominated the costume—and the scene.

Her hair was pure gold—and it fell in soft waves to her shoulders. Her eyes, the color of blue cornflowers, seemed to accentuate the pallor of her face, giving it an ethereal quality. Her full lips were parted in a smile that was at once wistful and alluring. Aware of her audience, as if for the first time, she lifted her chin a little and almost perceptibly straightened her slim shoulders. Without knowing her or anything about her problems, the people watching her were strangely impressed. Here, it was obvious, was a brave little woman—determined to face the world calmly after a trying emotional experience of some kind. And, apparently, she was somebody important.

The photographers began hastily unfolding their cameras, setting them up again. They hadn't expected this. But they knew a photographic windfall when they saw one, and they could practically smell a good story. Evidently the young woman expected to be photographed. She was posing.

"Who is she anyhow?" asked one of the men as he focused his camera on the vision. "Strikes me as a little too perfect to be real."

The other man grinned and aimed his camera. "Even if she's phoney, she's got what it takes for a pin-up."

Louise and Martha, standing motionless on the ramp, were silent for what seemed like a long time. Then:

"It's Angel," said Martha, the tears welling up in her eyes. "She looks so pale and so sad—poor Angel. But she's icier than ever. Her pictures will be in all the newspapers tomorrow."

"Yes, she's gorgeous," said Louise. And refrained from adding: "But she's making an 'entrance,' as usual. Poor Mother!"

CARDS SECURE BIGGEST LEAD; BROWNS SPLIT

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Pennants aren't won on the 5th of July and they don't pay off until October, but Billy Southworth and Luke Sewell are the envy of every manager in baseball today as the St. Louis Cardinals and Browns sit on top of the world with the traditional Independence Day landmark behind them.

The Red Birds are regarded as a shoo-in to the National pennant with a 10½ game lead but the Browns face the toughest sort of a struggle from all sides, currently from the Boston Red Sox who trail by only 1½ games after winning seven of 11 since returning to Fenway park.

Southworth's Cards are not only the proverbial cannon cracker with six in a row, the latter pair at the expense of the New York Giants, 6-2 and 9-1. Mort Cooper, who has been overlooked because of a shaky start due to a sore arm, rang the bell for his seventh straight in trimming Harry Feldman and Harry Brecheen boosted his record to 6-1 by downing Rube Fischer in the second game.

Dodgers Drop Eighth

Brooklyn's toboggan slide continued as the Dodgers slumped to their eighth straight loss by bowing twice to Cincinnati, 6-2 and 2-1 in 10 innings. Rookie Arnie Carter and Harry Gumbert were the winners over Hal Gregg and Ralph Branca but Gee Walker's grand slam homer in the opener was the thrill of the day.

Chicago hopped out of the basement by three percentage points over the Boston Braves by stopping Bob Coleman's crew, 7-1 April 4-2 on neat mound jobs by Les Fleming and Claude Passeau with the help of Dom Dallessandro's slugging. Red Barrett and Ben Cardoni were the losers.

Pittsburgh hung to second place by five slim percentage points over the Reds by taking the second game from the Phillies, 4-0, after bowing to Al Gerheuser in the opener, 3-2.

The Browns divided two with Philadelphia, winning the early game 4-0 as Sig Jakucki tossed his third shutout in his last four starts to decision Bobo Newsum. Al Hollingsworth failed in the finals as Luke Hamlin tuffed the leaders.

Yanks Lose Pair

Cleveland beat the New York Yankees' prize rookies, Walt Dubiel and Joe Page, 3-1 and 7-2, with Manager Lou Boudreau showing the way in the field and at bat. Chief Reginalds and Ray Post were the Tribe's winners.

Boston clung to the runner-up spot as Joe Bowman decided Detroit's Johnny Gorsica, 7-4, and Bobby Doerr batted in five runs after Hal Newhouse had hung up his 12th win at Clem Hausmann's expense, 4-3. Washington split with Chicago, the Nats scoring 2-0 behind Johnny Niggeling and the Sox coping the second, 3-2.

LAURELS HOLD EASTERN LEAD

(By The Associated Press)

The Hartford Laurels retained their two-and-one-half game hold on the Eastern league lead today, the result of a split with the Albany Senators as the rivals opened a seven-game series yesterday with a doubleheader.

Hartford won the opener, 1-0, but dropped the second, 3-1. Elmira defeated Williamsport, 2-2, but lost the nightcap, 13-7. Scranton swept two from Wilkes-Barre, 4-3 and 3-1, while Utica copped a pair from Binghamton, 7-0 and 8-2.

A crowd of 7,601, the league's largest of the season, saw Hartford take the opener from Albany in the ninth, when Shupe, who had tripled, scored on a fly. Pete Naktien held the Senators to four hits as he hooked up in a duel with Chuck Hawley, who yielded seven safeties.

In the nightcap, Orrie Arntzen bested Dave Odom in a tilt in which the New Yorkers scored two runs in the sixth to clinch matters.

Bob Mistle and Dwight Simonds chalked up mound triumphs as the Scranton Red Sox took two, the first win coming when Marshall stole home in the eighth.

MEMORIAL TO HITLER

Salida, Colo. (AP)—So sure is the Salida Rotary club that the European war is about over, it has set September 11 as the date for a program called "A Memorial to Adolf Hitler."

But the date may be advanced. J. Ford White, club president, said he is not sure the Germans can hold out until that time.

TO MAKE ELECTRODES

Washington, June 5 (AP)—New facilities for the manufacture of battery electrodes will be set up by the Defense Plant Corporation in Punnastown, Pa., to provide additional capacity of producing 60,000,000 electrodes monthly, the War Production Board announced.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, July 5 (AP)—Southern scribes and baseball men are all stirred up about the Dick Callahan "case," first because the $15,000 bonus the Red Sox paid the New Orleans youngster was more than any independent minor league club hand out and because it set other kids thinking in terms of $15,000, and second because of the "handling" of Callahan.

Bill Keefe of the New Orleans Times-Picayune argues that the shelling Dick took in his debut at Louisville may have set back his career a couple of years.

On top of that, 15-year-old Joe Nuxhall, after a brief trial with the Reds, was sent to the Class A Birmingham club. . . . He had to get a permit from the state child labor board to work there last Sunday, then lasted two thirds of an inning, giving one hit, five walks and six runs.

NO SURE CURE

The Tigers are expected to present a proposal at next week's major league meeting in Pittsburgh which would prohibit major league clubs from signing a free agent unless he had at least one full season's experience in Class A or higher. And would allow the big leagues to buy players from the minors only through unrestricted draft. . . . But baseball men say that Judge Landis likely would turn down any plan that would limit a player's chances to collect a bonus and you can imagine the howls from the minors if they were deprived of a few big-money sales.

SERVICE DEPT.

Buckley Field, Colo., boxers recently tried out a GI version of Col. Russ Newland's round ring and reported "a noticeable speeding up of the action." . . . In 16 appearances as pinch hitter for the Baltimore, Md., Navy team, Walt Budien, former Penn baseball captain and football end, hit safely ten times, drove in ten runs and scored eight. . . . Elbie Fletcher now is tutoring him on first base play. . . . Lieut. Doyle Nave, whose pass gave Southern California a 7-3 victory over Duke in the 1939 Rose Bowl game, recently encountered Lieut. Dan Hill, center on the Duke team, somewhere in the South Pacific. Hill, athletic and gunnery officer aboard an airplane carrier, had brought a boxing team to meet the boys on Nave's carrier. The result was the same as in 1939—Hill's boys won the first fight then dropped six.

CLEANING THE CUFF

Have you noticed those pictures of "Big" Bill Tilden with Frank Kovacs towering several inches over his head? . . . Just helps to show what chance a little guy would have in tennis these days. . . . Baseball Historian Ernie Lanigan estimates that he has the birth dates of 8,000 major league players as well as complete rosters of all big league clubs. . . . George Sergienko, the railroad conductor who plays tackle for the Brooklyn Tigers (nee Dodgers) spends his spare time between runs scouting players. Obviously, Coach Pete Cawthon thinks he has the right tickets.

Find Man With Top Of Head Blown Off

Elizabethville, Pa., July 5 (AP)—William A. Shaffer, 43-year-old quarryman, was found dead in bed yesterday with the top of his head blown off by a shotgun charge in what Lt. Dahlstrom of the state police said was "a clear case of murder."

Shaffer lived with his wife and three children in a remote farm house. Members of his family told state police that none of them heard any shooting.

Lt. Dahlstrom said Shaffer's widow was held in the Dauphin county jail "for further investigation and questioning." He said no charge had been filed against her and that she denied knowledge of the shooting.

Lt. Dahlstrom was formerly stationed in Gettysburg.

HUGE CROWDS ATTEND SPORTS EVENTS ON 4TH

By TED MEIER
New York, July 5 (AP) — More than 1,100,000 sports fans—1,102,192 to be exact—pushed their way into baseball parks and race tracks over the three-day July 4 holiday. This is an increase of 184,219 over the 917,973 spectators who turned out during the three-day Memorial day holiday.

Led by a two-day turnout of 346,823 for 16 major league doubleheaders a total of 593,411 paid their way into the ball parks of the American and National leagues as well as those of the five top minor circuits, the American Association, International, Pacific Coast, Eastern and Southern Association. Other thousands attended games in the Class B Pony, Interstate and Piedmont loops.

Turf followers to the number of 508,781 jostled into 13 race tracks over the three-day span, betting an aggregate of $24,950,000, an increase of $2,715,639 over the $22,234,311 tossed into the pari-mutuel machines Memorial day.

Near Betting Record

Other thousands of sports hungry fans saw fights in New York, Los Angeles, Calveston, Chicago, Baltimore and Newark, N. J. Still more attended the people's regatta on the Schuylkill river in Philadelphia and the Red Cross tennis exhibition matches at Forest Hills.

The largest turnout in yesterday's 172,291 major league attendance was at the Yankee stadium where 37,579 saw Cleveland whip the Yanks twice. Other crowds included 31,718 at Chicago, 24,195 at Boston and 23,858 at Philadelphia.

Yesterday's betting at the country's race tracks — $8,973,344 by 199,518 persons—was the second largest on record. It is topped only by the $10,326,027 wagered Memorial day.

OWLS LOSE PAIR TO YORK TUESDAY

(By The Associated Press)

Wilmington stood within a game and a half of the Interstate league-leading Hagerstown Owls today after the Owls dropped a twin bill to York which moved into third place over the Fourth of July.

Although the Blue Rocks dropped the opener to Trenton 9 to 3, they came back in the nightcap to gain a 9 to 2 victory.

Lefty Charley Ripple spaced out seven Trenton hits in the night game and then collected a double and triple off Harry Petty. A six-run rally in the sixth clinched the game.

The biggest firecracker over the Fourth was Hagerstown's setback at the hands of York which took the opener 4 to 3 and the final game 8 to 3.

Although Hagerstown collected 10 hits off Bob Patton, the team scored only three runs while York bunched six hits in the fourth frame for a total of four runs.

Lancaster and Allentown split a twin bill with the former winning the first 11 to 3. Allentown came back in the night game to win 11 to 7.

PENSIVE MISSES CRACK JOCKEY

Chicago, July 5 (AP)—The little man who wasn't there caused no end of consternation yesterday at the Washington Park track as Pensive, the Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner, finished out of the money in the $39,350 Stars and Stripes handicap, won by George Drum, once a west coast selling-plater.

The tiny absent gent, of course, was jockey Conn McCreary, who has made a habit of shooting the prize three-year-old Pensive up from nowhere to cash and glory. McCreary, injured in an automobile accident virtually on the eve of the big holiday race, watched, with some 36,000 other spectators, as Pensive found the going too tough against a crowd of fleet oldsters and finished fourth.

Orban-born Freddy Smith, McCreary's substitute, tried his best to poke Pensive ahead in a rousing stretch drive, but George Drum, flanked by Equifox and Irish-bred Rounders, last year's Stars and Stripes winner, refused to yield ground.

George (Ice-man) Woolf, imported from the east expressly for the race, brilliantly rode George Drum to a one-length victory over seven-year-old Equifox, which beat out Rounders by a length and a half for second.

George Drum, five-year-old gelding which a couple years ago was running in claiming races for his owner, Allen Drumheller of Walla Walla, Wash., paid $8.50, $4.90 and $3.40. Equifox, second, returned $7.00 and $4.20 and Rounders third, paid $5.00. The winner's share of the purse was $41,600.

CARDS SECURE BIGGEST LEAD; BROWNS SPLIT

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Pennants aren't won on the 5th of July and they don't pay off until October but Billy Southworth and Luke Sewell are the envy of every manager in baseball today as the St. Louis Cardinals and Browns sit on top of the world with the traditional Independence Day landmark behind them.

The Red Birds are regarded as a shoo-in to the National pennant with a 10½ game lead but the Browns face the toughest sort of a struggle from all sides, currently from the Boston Red Sox who trail by only 1½ games after winning seven of 11 since returning to Fenway park.

Southworth's Cards are notter than the proverbial cannon cracker with six in a row, the latter pair at the expense of the New York Giants, 6-2 and 9-1. Mort Cooper, who has been overlooked because of a shaky start due to a sore arm, rang the bell for his seventh straight in trimming Harry Feldman and Harry Brecheen boosted his record to 6-1 by downing Rube Fischer in the second game.

Dodgers Drop Eighth
Brooklyn's toboggan slide continued as the Dodgers slumped to their eighth straight loss by bowing twice to Cincinnati, 6-2 and 2-1 in 10 innings. Rookie Arnie Carter and Harry Gumbert were the winners over Hal Gregg and Ralph Branca but Gee Walker's grand slam homer in the opener was the thrill of the day.

Chicago hopped out of the basement by three percentage points over the Boston Braves by stopping Bob Coleman's crew, 7-1 and 4-2 on neat mound jobs by Les Fleming and Claude Passeau with the help of Dom Dallessandro's slugging. Red Barrett and Ben Cardoni were the losers.

Pittsburgh hung to second place by five slim percentage points over the Reds by taking the second game from the Phillies, 4-0, after bowing to Al Gerheuser in the opener, 3-2. The Browns divided two with Philadelphia, winning the early game 4-0 as Sig Jakucki tossed his third shutout in his last four starts to decision Bob Newsom. Al Hollingsworth failed in the finals as Luke Hamlin cuffed the leaders, 8-3.

Yanks Lose Pair
Cleveland beat the New York Yankees' prize rookies, Walt Dubiel and Joe Page, 3-1 and 7-2, with Manager Lou Boudreau showing the way in the field and at bat. Chief Reynolds and Ray Poat were the Tribe's winners.

Boston clung to the runnerup spot as Joe Bowman decided Detroit's Johnny Gorsica, 7-4, and Bobby Doerr batted in five runs after Hal Newhouse had hung up his 12th win at Clem Hausman's expense, 4-3. Washington split with Chicago, the Nats scoring 2-0 behind Johnny Niggeling and the Sox coping the second, 3-2.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, July 5 (AP) — Southern scribes and baseball men are all stirred up about the Dick Callahan "case," first because the $15,000 bonus the Red Sox paid the New Orleans youngster was more than any independent minor league club hand out and because it set other kids thinking in terms of $15,000, and second because of the "handling" of Callahan. . . . Bill Keefe of the New Orleans Times-Picayune argues that the shellacking Dick took in his debut at Louisville may have set back his career a couple of years. . . . On top of that, 15-year old Joe Nuxhall, after a brief trial with the Reds, was sent to the Class A Birmingham club. . . . He had to get a permit from the state child labor board to work there last Sunday then lasted two thirds of an inning, giving one hit, five walks and six runs.

NO SURE CURE
The Tigers are expected to present a proposal at next week's major league meeting in Pittsburgh which would prohibit major league clubs from sioning a free agent unless he had at least one full season's experience in Class A or higher. And would allow the big leagues to buy players from the minors only through unrestricted draft. . . . But baseball men say that Judge Landis likely would turn down any plan that would limit a player's chances to collect a bonus and you can imagine the howls from the minors if they were deprived of a few big-money sales.

SERVICE DEPT.
Buckley Field, Colo., boxers recently tried out a GI version of Col. Russ Newland's round ring and reported "a noticeable speeding up of the action." . . . In 16 appearances as pinch hitter for the Baltimore, Md., Navy team, Walt Buben, former Penn. baseball captain and football end, hit safely ten times, drove in ten runs and scored eight. Elbie Fletcher now is tutoring him on first base play. . . . Lieut. Doyle Nave, whose pass gave Southern California a 7-3 victory over Duke in the 1939 Rose Bowl game, recently encountered Lieut. Dan Hill, center on the Duke team, somewhere in the South Pacific. Hill, athletic and gunnery officer aboard an airplane carrier, had brought a boxing team to meet the boys on Nave's carrier. The result was the same as in 1939—Hill's boys won the first fight then dropped six.

CLEANING THE CUFF
Have you noticed those pictures of "Big" Bill Tilden with Frank Kovacs towering several inches over his head? . . . Just helps to show what chance a little guy would have in tennis these days. . . . Baseball Historian Ernie Lanigan estimates that he has the birth dates of 8,000 major league players as well as complete rosters of all big league clubs. . . . George Sergienko, the railroad conductor who plays tackle for the Brooklyn Tigers (nee Dodgers) spends his spare time between runs scouting players. Obviously, Coach Pete Cawthon thinks he has the right tickets.

LAURELS HOLD EASTERN LEAD

(By The Associated Press)
The Hartford Laurels retained their two-and-one-half game hold on the Eastern league lead today, the result of a split with the Albany Senators as the rivals opened a seven-game series yesterday with a doubleheader.

Hartford won the opener, 1-0, but dropped the second, 3-1. Elmira defeated Williamsport, 8-2, but lost the nightcap, 13-7. Scranton swept two from Wilkes-Barre, 4-3 and 3-1, while Utica copped a pair from Binghamton, 7-0 and 8-2.

A crowd of 7,604, the league's largest of the season, saw Hartford take the opener from Albany in the ninth, when Shupe, who had tripled, scored on a fly. Pete Naktienis held the Senators to four hits as he hooked up in a duel with Chuck Hawley, who yielded seven safeties.

In the nightcap Orrie Arntzen bested Dave Odom in a tilt in which the New Yorkers scored two runs in the sixth to clinch matters. Bob Mistell and Dwight Simmons chalked up mound triumphs as the Scranton Red Sox took two, the first win coming when Marshall stole home in the eighth.

MEMORIAL TO HITLER
Salida, Colo. (AP)—So sure is the Salida Rotary club that the European war is about over, it has set September 11 as the date for a program called "A Memorial to Adolf Hitler."

But the date may be advanced. J. Ford White, club president, said he is not sure the Germans can hold out until that time.

TO MAKE ELECTRODES
Washington, June 5 (AP)—New facilities for the manufacture of battery electrodes will be set up by the Defense Plant Corporation in Punxsutawney, Pa., to provide additional capacity of producing 60,000,000 electrodes monthly, the War Production Board announced.

HUGE CROWDS ATTEND SPORTS EVENTS ON 4TH

By TED MEIER

New York, July 5 (AP) — More than 1,100,000 sports fans—1,102,192 to be exact—pushed their way into baseball parks and race tracks over the three-day July 4 holiday. This is an increase of 184,219 over the 917,973 spectators who turned out during the three-day Memorial day holiday.

Led by a two-day turnout of 346,828 for 16 major league doubleheaders a total of 593,411 paid their way into the ball parks of the American and National leagues as well as those of the five top minor circuits, the American Association, International, Pacific Coast, Eastern and Southern Association. Other thousands attended games in the Class B Pony, Interstate and Piedmont loops.

Turf followers to the number of 508,781 flocked into 13 race tracks over the three-day span, betting an aggregate of $24,950,000, an increase of $2,715,689 over the $22,234,311 tossed into the pari-mutuel machines Memorial day.

Near Betting Record
Other thousands of sports hungry fans saw fights in New York, Los Angeles, Galveston, Chicago, Baltimore and Newark. N. J. Still more attended the people's regatta on the Schuylkill river in Philadelphia and the Red Cross tennis exhibition matches at Forest Hills.

The largest turnout in yesterday's 172,891 major league attendance was at the Yankee stadium where 37,579 saw Cleveland whip the Yanks twice. Other crowds included 31,718 at Chicago, 24,195 at Boston and 23,858 at Philadelphia.

Yesterday's betting at the country's race tracks — $8,947,344 by 199,418 persons — was the second largest on record. It is topped only by the $10,326,027 wagered Memorial day.

Find Man With Top Of Head Blown Off

Elizabethville, Pa., July 5 (AP)—William A. Shaffer, 43-year-old quarryman, was found dead in bed yesterday with the top of his head blown off by a shotgun charge in what Lt. Dahlstrom of the state police said was "a clear case of murder."

Shaffer lived with his wife and three children in a remote farm house. Members of his family told state police that none of them heard any shooting.

Lt. Dahlstrom said Shaffer's widow was held in the Dauphin county jail "for further investigation and questioning." He said no charge had been filed against her and that she denied knowledge of the shooting.

Lt. Dahlstrom was formerly stationed in Gettysburg.

OWLS LOSE PAIR TO YORK TUESDAY

(By The Associated Press)

Wilmington stood within a game and a half of the Interstate league-leading Hagerstown Owls today after the Owls dropped a twin bill to York which moved into third place over the Fourth of July.

Although the Blue Rocks dropped the opener to Trenton 9 to 3, they came back in the nightcap to gain a 9 to 2 victory.

Lefty Charley Rippie spaced out seven Trenton hits in the night game and then collected a double and triple off Harry Petty. A six-run rally in the sixth clinched the game.

The biggest firecracker over the Fourth was Hagerstown's setback at the hands of York which took the opener 4 to 3 and the final game 8 to 3.

Although Hagerstown collected 10 hits off Bob Patton, the team scored only three runs while York bunched six hits in the fourth frame for a total of four runs.

Lancaster and Allentown split a twin bill with the former winning the first 11 to 3. Allentown came back in the night game to win 11 to 7.
